CSU Counseling Center; Counseling Resources

If you or someone you know is struggling, the CSU CARE Team is a resource for all CSU students. Please know that if you're concerned about a colleague, you can make an anonymous CARE referral and a member of the team will reach out to help connect the student to resources. You can also reach out to the CARE Team directly for individual assistance for yourself. Email MagnusActs@csuohio.edu to connect with the CARE Team.

You can also reach out to any of our Associate Deans on behalf of yourself or a colleague so that we can help connect you or your colleague to resources. It is a true fact that this academic year has been extremely challenging. If you're struggling, you are not alone.

From the Counseling Center Director: The Counseling Center either provides what is needed or helps students get connected to someone who can help. At this time, in addition to our own counselors, we have a contract with Impact/ All One Health which provides 8 free sessions of counseling for students. So, if a student has a specific preference that we can't meet, we can connect them there. We also have extended hours this semester, with Tues/Thurs until 8pm and Saturday appointments available.

The LSSSE Survey Tool and Why it Matters.

Last week all students received an invitation to participate in the Law School Survey of Student Engagement. The study is broad in nature; it includes a wide variety of topics related to student classroom experience, faculty interaction, time allocation, use of and satisfaction with student services, and your overall assessment of the law school. The survey is conducted by an independent research center and your responses are anonymous to Cleveland-Marshall College of Law.

The LSSSE website states that the LSSSE Survey is designed to measure the effects of legal education on law students. It is centered on the concept of student engagement—which is based on the simple, yet powerful observation that the more engrossing the educational experience, the more students will gain from it.

The survey provides a comprehensive view of the experiences of students in the classroom and in their broader lives. These findings can yield important school-level insights about the effects of legal education. Survey results can be contextualized using comparisons to law school peers, the national pool of LSSSE Survey schools, and to past results.

The survey also includes important questions about your experience generally, and a specific set of questions related to Diversity and Inclusion and your Experience with Online Learning. Your responses to these questions are extremely important to the body of continuing and essential research on the quality and contribution of law schools in North America and beyond.

The LSSSE Survey is administered annually. Since its first administration in 2004, 200 law schools in the U.S. (181), Canada (17), and Australia (2) have administered the survey, eliciting more than 350,000 student responses. More information about the LSSSE survey can be found here. LSSSE's Diversity and Exclusion 2020 Annual Survey Results can be found here. The extended archive can be found here.

AccessLex Financial Program: March Update

There are only a few weeks left for you to build up your entries into the grand prize MAX scholarship drawing on April 1. Two winners from each class will receive up to $25,000, and one lucky winner from each class will win up to $40,000 toward law school tuition (or your student loans, if you're a 3L)!

You will MAXimize your chances to rack up entries for the drawing by completing all eight of your class year's lessons, attending two online events, and completing your MAX survey. You'll even get a bonus ten entries for completing all of these activities!

Register now for scholarship-eligible events happening this month:

- The 30-minute MAX Monthly webinar: Consolidating Versus Refinancing Your Student Loans.
- The Foundations of Investing webinar series.
