DUTY OF CARE TO EMPLOYEES SENT ABROAD

Marley Weiss received her B.A. from Barnard College in 1971 and her J.D. from the Harvard Law School in 1974. She practiced labor law for ten years with the International Union, United Auto Workers, and has spent the following twenty-nine years as a member of the faculty of the University of Maryland Francis King Carey School of Law, where she is now Professor of Law. She also has taught at Eötvös Loránd Faculty of Law and at the Central European University in Budapest, Hungary.

Professor Weiss was the first Chair of the U.S. National Advisory Committee regarding the North American Agreement on Labor Cooperation (the NAALC, or NAFTA Labor Side Agreement), serving throughout the Clinton Administration, from 1995-2001. She is a former Secretary of the ABA Section of Labor and Employment Law, and a past co-chair of the Section’s Committee on International Labor and Employment Law. She serves as co-chair of the Collaborative Research Network (CRN) 8 – Labor Rights of the Law and Society Association, and is a member of the Advisory Board of the Peggy Browning Fund as well as a Fellow of the College of Labor and Employment Lawyers.

Professor Weiss’ research interests primarily involve international and comparative labor law and industrial relations, as well as the labor effects of transnational integration.
