STANTON WINS PAD AWARD

Jeffrey A. Rich

James V. Stanton, Cleveland's dynamic City Council President, will receive Phi Alpha Delta's Outstanding Alumni Award, at the fraternity's annual installation dinner-dance on Saturday, Feb. 14, at the Hollenden House.

PAD presents this award each year to a graduate of the law school who has distinguished himself by his service to the profession and community.

Following the presentation, the vigorous 37 year old six term council leader will address PAD on the "Legal Profession's Obligation to Public Service."

Stanton, who has announced as a congressional candidate in the 20th district, believes that, "It is the responsibility of the legal profession to insur our environment against pollution.

FACULTY RECRUITMENT COMMITTEE ACTIVE

Recruitment of new faculty members, for next year, has been actively carried on and is still going on. The Faculty Recruitment Committee, which interviewed almost thirty persons obtained from various sources in San Francisco recently, consists of Prof. Howard Oleck (Chairman), Asst. Dean Huddleston, Prof. Goshien and Asst. Dean Flaherty (the latter was not in San Francisco, however).

About a dozen selected candidates, mostly members of faculties of other law schools, have been brought to Cleveland for interviews with the entire faculty. Selection of new faculty members must be initiated and approved by the law faculty under the rules of the League of Ohio Law Schools, the Association of American Law Schools, etc. Thereafter, Dean Gaynor’s contracts to the persons approved by the faculty, in the number of vacancies to be filled, choosing the person he deems best, with the concurrence of the top University officials.

The Committee sought, and brought in, good candidates able to handle law intern, continuing legal education, and placement director work in addition to needed teaching assignments.

GILBERTSON CHOSEN AS CLERK TO SUPREME COURT JUSTICE

Craig Collinwood

Third-year day student, Eric G. Gilbertson, has been selected by Chief Justice Kingsley A. Tuft of the Ohio Supreme Court to serve as his law clerk for the 1970-71 term. Eric holds a Master's degree in Economics. He has taught that subject at Kent State University. He entered this law school in 1967 on a full tuition scholarship, and plans to be graduated in June, 1970. While here Eric has served as Editor-in-Chief of the Law Review, which position he feels was most important in gaining him this appointment. He is a member of Delta Theta Phi law fraternity.

STUDENT BAR ASSN. TOUGHERS UP ON ABSENT REPS

In a new "get-tough" policy, the CSU Student Bar Association has acted to dump SBA Reps who miss meetings. Due to a heavy docket of projects, the SBA has been forced to meet no less than every three weeks this year, and many representatives have been upset that the load has not been a heavy one.

In a motion submitted by Rep. Don Uchtmann ('73), the Bar is demanding that representatives who have missed meetings submit valid excuses or give up their seats.

The present Student Bar Association, considered the largest and most active in the history of the law school, intends to carry out a multitude of projects as well as concerning itself with a number of intraschool problems. Among the areas of top priority for the Bar are student parking problems, faculty evaluation, alumni and placement activities, speakers program, constitutional revision, schedule revision, and Law Day. Their work has been seriously hampered by poor attendance and a number of absences. After the Bar made it a habit to miss meetings, the Bar has been effective in curriculum and placement matters this year. Representatives see one of student contact, not research. The Bar members as a positive step to assure responsible student representation.

Is your rep. here?

had been directed toward placing student interns and graduates with government agencies and industry.

According to this charge, Flaherty said, "In 1968 Mrs. Edwards arranged a meeting where representatives of four local law firms appeared and discussed with them, and only six students showed up. The turn-out was so disappointing that such meetings have been stopped. In addition, most of the law firms I am familiar with in Cleveland and elsewhere prefer the student to contact them if he wishes a position," Flaherty added.

Dean James Gaynor emphasized Flaherty's assertion that hiring a Placement Director was a priority item on his list.

"We have talked with several persons about taking this job," said the Dean, "but we are not going to hire off the top because we have a chance to talk with all those who might be interested and qualified. We want the best possible person for this job, because it would involve representing the image of the law school before Bar Association meetings and the like."

According to Flaherty the position does not have a salary limit. He said he did not foresee any funding problem after the selection of a director a matter of students contact, not research.

"Even though we have set some guidelines to establish a description of the position to facilitate our search for a Director, this does not mean that we are already prepared to interview applicants who will take teaching positions which exclude research opportunities is very thin this year," Flaherty said.

"This job will not be an ivory tower-like position. The primary attention of the position will be the law students contact, not research.

"Our students are now very interested in teaching positions with the Association of American Law Schools, which annually publishes a list of applicants which is forwarded to all law schools. The list of applicants who will take teaching positions which exclude research opportunities is very thin this year," Flaherty said.

"Our students are interested in teaching positions with the Association of American Law Schools, which annually publishes a list of applicants which is forwarded to all law schools. The list of applicants who will take teaching positions which exclude research opportunities is very thin this year," Flaherty said.

"No progress had been made in locating a Placement Director for the College of Law, according to Assistant Dean James T. Flaherty. "It is not a matter of whether there is a desire to locate such an individual. Both C.S.U. and Dean Gaynor have given priority status to our search for a Placement Director," Flaherty reported.

"Right now my biggest problem in this matter is locating an applicant who wants the job and who meets our requirements," Flaherty said.

"One criterion that has been established tentatively is that any applicant be a lawyer. This has been set in an effort to make Flaherty said, "One is that the director will be in direct contact with law firms as a representative of the school; a second reason is that we want this person to have faculty status; that is, he or she would be giving a teaching assignment in addition to his or her job.

Flaherty stressed that the major reason for giving an additional teaching assignment to the job description is to provide a means for regular student contact, so that the student's problems and desires in seeking positions would be more readily made known to the Placement Director.

He said that he is now reviewing applications for qualified candidates who have indicated their interest in teaching positions by filling with the Association of American Law Schools, which annually publishes a list of applicants which is forwarded to all law schools.

The list of applicants who will take teaching positions which exclude research opportunities is very thin this year," Flaherty said.

"This job will not be an ivory tower-like position. The primary attention of the position will be the law students contact, not research.

"Our students are now very interested in teaching positions with the Association of American Law Schools, which annually publishes a list of applicants which is forwarded to all law schools. The list of applicants who will take teaching positions which exclude research opportunities is very thin this year," Flaherty said.

"No progress had been made in locating a Placement Director for the College of Law, according to Assistant Dean James T. Flaherty. "It is not a matter of whether there is a desire to locate such an individual. Both C.S.U. and Dean Gaynor have given priority status to our search for a Placement Director," Flaherty reported.

"Right now my biggest problem in this matter is locating an applicant who wants the job and who meets our requirements," Flaherty said.

"One criterion that has been established tentatively is that any applicant be a lawyer. This has been set in an effort to make Flaherty said, "One is that the director will be in direct contact with law firms as a representative of the school; a second reason is that we want this person to have faculty status; that is, he or she would be giving a teaching assignment in addition to his or her job.

Flaherty stressed that the major reason for giving an additional teaching assignment to the job description is to provide a means for regular student contact, so that the student's problems and desires in seeking positions would be more readily made known to the Placement Director.

He said that he is now reviewing applications for qualified candidates who have indicated their interest in teaching positions by filling with the Association of American Law Schools, which annually publishes a list of applicants which is forwarded to all law schools.

The list of applicants who will take teaching positions which exclude research opportunities is very thin this year," Flaherty said.

"This job will not be an ivory tower-like position. The primary attention of the position will be the law students contact, not research.

"Our students are now very interested in teaching positions with the Association of American Law Schools, which annually publishes a list of applicants which is forwarded to all law schools. The list of applicants who will take teaching positions which exclude research opportunities is very thin this year," Flaherty said.
WHAT BOOKSTORE?!

The present bookstore operation at our law school is an abomination. When it is open, the hours are convenient for everyone but the law students. If you are lucky enough to be in the building during one of the rare hours that it is open (never trust the posted schedule since it is subject to unannounced and constant change) chances are the book you need is not in stock! If you are only available when one of the undergraduates is in the office all day and most of the evening. Now they say we were at Marshall, we were told that we'd be in the AALS next year." Sound familiar?

As for the significant membership of the AALS, a recent inquiry on my part to the graduate division of the law school resulted in the following shocking response:

"I am sorry to have to say that one of the requirements for membership is that the candidate for LL.M. here is graduation from a school which is a member of the Association of American Law Schools. Cleveland-Marshall is not a member of the State Law School . . . is not a member of the Association. If this is the case, you would not be admitted to the law school."

Thus we are by the rules of the Association. . . . anyone can see there is a problem and be of assistance at a later time. The most important work appears to be seamless to graduation from a non-member school.

They didn't even send me a catalog. What it means to me that our degree is of little value in the academic world if we are not a member of the AALS, which nearly every school that anyone has ever heard of is. Law school is a private problem of a very private institution. Today it is a public problem of a State University. The people of Ohio are concerned with how taxpayer dollars are spent, have a right to know that they are subsidizing a law school whose curriculum has no common law nor degree recognized, at many law schools. This places CSU students at a distinct disadvantage, and it is the duty to demand that their administrators stop playing games, doing fancy political maneuvers, and start now to consider the school's interest.

If membership is not obtained immediately, the Student Bar Association should send a delegation to find out if there is any possibility of influencing the Governor, to make them aware of this serious problem.

Law school students and professors at our school have a right to demand action from administrators who are paid considerably more than the Mayor of Cleveland!

JEFFREY A. RICH ('70)

COMMENT BY THE DEAN

There is no question of the desirability of membership in the Association of American Law Schools. The law school operates the bookstore. That way there is no schedule, the law school has not been informed of it. The usual reaction is sheer disgust with a deplorable situation.

It is interesting to note that sufficient parking has been mandated near the main university campus. Just recently, three more lots were opened to the students. At the law school, faculty members receive parking privileges in a neighboring lot for $15 per quarter. Students receive nothing. For whom does a university exist—the faculty or the students? The Student Bar has requested that Mr. Anthony Baldwin, C.U. Parking Committee Chairman, visit Cleveland-Marshall to see how their students are treated. The cars stolen, doors jimmyed and books and personal articles removed, windows smashed, and it could provide no real problem. However, for the day student it is quite frustrating to get out of class late for lunch or stay after 5 o'clock. For the night school student it is quite frustrating to get out of class late for lunch or stay after 5 o'clock. For the night school student it is quite frustrating to get out of class late for lunch or stay after 5 o'clock. For the night school student it is quite frustrating to get out of class late for lunch or stay after 5 o'clock.

Inadequate parking is a problem which has been known for some time. The future of Cleveland-Marshall is being given adequate support by Cleveland State and favorable action upon our application will be recommended. If membership is not obtained immediately, the Student Bar should send a delegation to make their wishes known to the Governor, after having been informed of the situation. We are paid considerably more than the Mayor of Cleveland! We should be treated fairly.

JEFFREY A. RICH ('70)

COMMENT BY THE DEAN

There is no question of the desirability of membership in the Association of American Law Schools. The law school operates the bookstore. That way there is no schedule, the law school has not been informed of it. The usual reaction is sheer disgust with a deplorable situation.

It is interesting to note that sufficient parking has been mandated near the main university campus. Just recently, three more lots were opened to the students. At the law school, faculty members receive parking privileges in a neighboring lot for $15 per quarter. Students receive nothing. For whom does a university exist—the faculty or the students? The Student Bar has requested that Mr. Anthony Baldwin, C.U. Parking Committee Chairman, visit Cleveland-Marshall to see how their students are treated. The cars stolen, doors jimmyed and books and personal articles removed, windows smashed, and it could provide no real problem. However, for the day student it is quite frustrating to get out of class late for lunch or stay after 5 o'clock. For the night school student it is quite frustrating to get out of class late for lunch or stay after 5 o'clock. For the night school student it is quite frustrating to get out of class late for lunch or stay after 5 o'clock.

Inadequate parking is a problem which has been known for some time. The future of Cleveland-Marshall is being given adequate support by Cleveland State and favorable action upon our application will be recommended. If membership is not obtained immediately, the Student Bar should send a delegation to make their wishes known to the Governor, after having been informed of the situation. We are paid considerably more than the Mayor of Cleveland! We should be treated fairly.

JEFFREY A. RICH ('70)

COMMENT BY THE DEAN

There is no question of the desirability of membership in the Association of American Law Schools. The law school operates the bookstore. That way there is no schedule, the law school has not been informed of it. The usual reaction is sheer disgust with a deplorable situation.

It is interesting to note that sufficient parking has been mandated near the main university campus. Just recently, three more lots were opened to the students. At the law school, faculty members receive parking privileges in a neighboring lot for $15 per quarter. Students receive nothing. For whom does a university exist—the faculty or the students? The Student Bar has requested that Mr. Anthony Baldwin, C.U. Parking Committee Chairman, visit Cleveland-Marshall to see how their students are treated. The cars stolen, doors jimmyed and books and personal articles removed, windows smashed, and it could provide no real problem. However, for the day student it is quite frustrating to get out of class late for lunch or stay after 5 o'clock. For the night school student it is quite frustrating to get out of class late for lunch or stay after 5 o'clock. For the night school student it is quite frustrating to get out of class late for lunch or stay after 5 o'clock.

Inadequate parking is a problem which has been known for some time. The future of Cleveland-Marshall is being given adequate support by Cleveland State and favorable action upon our application will be recommended. If membership is not obtained immediately, the Student Bar should send a delegation to make their wishes known to the Governor, after having been informed of the situation. We are paid considerably more than the Mayor of Cleveland! We should be treated fairly.

JEFFREY A. RICH ('70)
NEED FOR LAW CURRICULUM CHANGE

In a recent speech given at a Washington, D.C., law school, Ralph Nahler has called attention to the need to restructure legal education. The law school curriculum, he said, is the slave of the cases which come to court and further asserted that "reason is absent from the classroom."

In his report at Harvard Systematic Brainwashing," Nahler believes that crucial contemporary issues are being "touched on but not developed strongly due to "question basic assumptions."

The Nahler report of the law college found its curriculum to be "restrictive and rather unimaginative." We concur. One priority which Nahler states should be pursued and bring to the attention of its students is large scale economic and corporate crime. Nahler cited examples of thousands of children who are annually poisoned in New York and other urban areas from eating paint off the walls. The Nahler report further stated that a consciousness of such problems must be developed in the law school rather than placing the blame for social problems on the hippies (which Nahler terms the "Reagan Syndrome").

The student-faculty policy-making bodies should take action to meet Nahler's call and offer more exciting and relevant electives.

A.A.L.S. OFFICERS FOR 1970

Officers of A.A.L.S. who will pass on our application for membership are the following: President—Dean Jeffrey; President-Elect—Prof. Alfred F. Conard (U. of Mich.); Executive Committee Members—Prof. Edward B. Berkowitz (J. of Minn.), Prof. F. Hodge O'Neal (Duke U.), Dean William H. Pedrick (Arizona State U.), and Prof. Jan R. Nelsen (University of Washington). The National Accreditation Committee will be Prof. Gray Thorton (Cornell U.).

A recent report of the College of Law for membership purposes will be made in April by Prof. Daniel Dykstra (U. of Calif., Davis). Prof. Dykstra serves as a member of the Joint inspection committee that came here last year.

CAGNEY COACH PREDICTS WINNING SEASON

With the season opener just around the corner, the basketball Barsters from C-M, in the CSU Athletic Union of the College of Law, are preparing for what Coach Henry Gerstman predicts will be a triumphantly victorious effort. The coach, better known as "Flip-Out," has been preparing his team shows up for all games, and if they stop smoking, this will be a winning season. Practices have been taking place for the past two weeks, closed doors for about a month or so, in order to keep all the team's weapons a secret. The coach even threatened to "ridicule" a player if he didn't keep the secret from him, too.

Big Ted Boyce is quick and (in some ways) a natural leader, is one of the starting forwards. Boyce long has been known for his darting speed and he is expected to support his boys in every way. He is expected to plan his charges this season. At the other forward is "Pistol Pete" Hull, a man who can make a hit, if not too right handed, is expected to dominate the backboards with his excellent knowledge and superior height (6' 6") plus a good knowledge of the game.

Playing (at or with or in) one of the guard positions is "Eric-the-Hot-Shot" Gilbertson. Rich is the potential of being the leader of this league, if he can keep the tears out of his eyes. (Chin-up Rick!) The other guard position is up for grabs. The coach is expecting developments among Dave Sherriff, Joe May, Milt Katz, or anyone else who applies. But he gives a thin edge to Sherriff, who probably will be allowed an opening. The team is due to be ready for the season, which is expected to be completed no later than February 20, 1970.

ATLANTA: THE WEATHER WAS FINE

In agreement through the Student Bar Association, I was chosen to represent the College of Law at the Association of Student Governments Conference in Atlanta, Georgia on November 26 through November 28. This means I will take out information regarding problems confronting college students throughout the country. This conference will be much like offering students a forum in which to air differing views regarding such problems as: minority groups, mental health, and apathy, along with a host of proposals on how students can handle the increasing pressures of administrative and political harassment and legislators during times that truly are changing.

The Association of Student Governments was formed at the desire of the academically oriented National Association of Student Governments. It was founded upon the premise that student government leaders should be given the opportunity to discuss areas of similar non-political interest through a direct approach by their peers.

Though problems were aired, the direct approach proved contrary to the organization's raison d'être, [the] Student government leaders. These political discussions rather than into discussions of a non-political nature. This proved disruptive and the conference ended in the premature ending of the conference.

The weather was fine, what Coach Henry Gerstman predicts will be a truly exciting season. Practices dent Governments. It was founded upon the context offered by the Association.

We concur.

CSU Active in CLEO

On December 1, 1969, a consortium of law schools from Ohio, Michigan, and Indiana submitted a proposal for a legal education summer institute to be held at Wayne State University, and to include a law school scholarship program by the Council on Legal Education Opportunity (CLEO). The proposal will be The Midwestern Urban Centers Law Legal Education Opportunity Summer Institute and Law School Scholarship Program.

The consortium developed under the guidelines of the CLEO program is "to provide basic remedial work in language and skills in the context of regular-type law school courses."

With the assistance of Professor David B. Coogan of the University of Michigan, the Steering Committee will be Prof. Gray Thorton (Cornell U.); Executive Director, Mr. Glover will be Prof. Ian MacNeil (Cornell U.); Executive Committee Members—Prof. Edward B. Berkowitz (J. of Minn.), Prof. F. Hodge O'Neal (Duke U.), Dean William H. Pedrick (Arizona State U.), and Prof. Jan R. Nelsen (University of Washington). The purpose of the CSU Chapter of the Law Students Civil Rights Research Council is now accepting applications for the summer institute. Instead, the applications of these students will be forwarded to the administration office, are available for entry into full-time law studies in the fall of 1970.

The proposal further states that students whose letters and LSAT scores will easily assure their acceptance at the consortium summer institute. Instead, the applications of these students will be forwarded to the administration office, are available for entry into full-time law studies in the fall of 1970.

CSU Active in CLEO

On December 1, 1969, a consortium of law schools from Ohio, Michigan, and Indiana submitted a proposal for a legal education summer institute to be held at Wayne State University, and to include a law school scholarship program by the Council on Legal Education Opportunity (CLEO). The proposal will be The Midwestern Urban Centers Law Legal Education Opportunity Summer Institute and Law School Scholarship Program.

The consortium developed under the guidelines of the CLEO program is "to provide basic remedial work in language and skills in the context of regular-type law school courses."

With the assistance of Professor David B. Coogan of the University of Michigan, the Steering Committee will be Prof. Gray Thorton (Cornell U.); Executive Director, Mr. Glover will be Prof. Ian MacNeil (Cornell U.); Executive Committee Members—Prof. Edward B. Berkowitz (J. of Minn.), Prof. F. Hodge O'Neal (Duke U.), Dean William H. Pedrick (Arizona State U.), and Prof. Jan R. Nelsen (University of Washington). The purpose was to seek out information regarding problems confronting college students throughout the country.

The purpose was to seek out information regarding problems confronting college students throughout the country. The weather was fine, what Coach Henry Gerstman predicts will be a truly exciting season. Practices dent Governments. It was founded upon the context offered by the Association.

We concur.

CSU Active in CLEO

On December 1, 1969, a consortium of law schools from Ohio, Michigan, and Indiana submitted a proposal for a legal education summer institute to be held at Wayne State University, and to include a law school scholarship program by the Council on Legal Education Opportunity (CLEO). The proposal will be The Midwestern Urban Centers Law Legal Education Opportunity Summer Institute and Law School Scholarship Program.

The consortium developed under the guidelines of the CLEO program is "to provide basic remedial work in language and skills in the context of regular-type law school courses."

With the assistance of Professor David B. Coogan of the University of Michigan, the Steering Committee will be Prof. Gray Thorton (Cornell U.); Executive Director, Mr. Glover will be Prof. Ian MacNeil (Cornell U.); Executive Committee Members—Prof. Edward B. Berkowitz (J. of Minn.), Prof. F. Hodge O'Neal (Duke U.), Dean William H. Pedrick (Arizona State U.), and Prof. Jan R. Nelsen (University of Washington). The purpose was to seek out information regarding problems confronting college students throughout the country. The weather was fine, what Coach Henry Gerstman predicts will be a truly exciting season. Practices dent Governments. It was founded upon the context offered by the Association.

We concur.

CSU Active in CLEO

On December 1, 1969, a consortium of law schools from Ohio, Michigan, and Indiana submitted a proposal for a legal education summer institute to be held at Wayne State University, and to include a law school scholarship program by the Council on Legal Education Opportunity (CLEO). The proposal will be The Midwestern Urban Centers Law Legal Education Opportunity Summer Institute and Law School Scholarship Program.

The consortium developed under the guidelines of the CLEO program is "to provide basic remedial work in language and skills in the context of regular-type law school courses."

With the assistance of Professor David B. Coogan of the University of Michigan, the Steering Committee will be Prof. Gray Thorton (Cornell U.); Executive Director, Mr. Glover will be Prof. Ian MacNeil (Cornell U.); Executive Committee Members—Prof. Edward B. Berkowitz (J. of Minn.), Prof. F. Hodge O'Neal (Duke U.), Dean William H. Pedrick (Arizona State U.), and Prof. Jan R. Nelsen (University of Washington). The purpose was to seek out information regarding problems confronting college students throughout the country. The weather was fine, what Coach Henry Gerstman predicts will be a truly exciting season. Practices dent Governments. It was founded upon the context offered by the Association.

We concur.
EDUCATIONAL FOUNDATION ESTABLISHED AT CSU

The Cleveland-Marshall Educational Foundation, established pursuant to the merger agreement with Cleveland State University held its organizational meeting on January 9. The Foundation was chartered late last year by the State of Ohio as a non-profit corporation. The Foundation will be administered by the five incorporators who also serve as trustees.

Carl E. Wasmuth, M.D., '59, Chairman of the Board of Trustees of Cleveland-Marshall Law School, elected President of the Foundation. Mr. John E. Kusik, President of the Foundation. Mr. John E. Kusik was elected Vice President, and Dean James K. Gaynor was elected Secretary-Treasurer. Other trustees are Mr. Edward Carbajal, Hon. Paul S. Sanilo. Both of them are Cleveland-Marshall graduates.

Assistant Dean James T. Flaherty was designated Assistant Secretary-Treasurer.

The purposes of the Foundation, as set forth in the Articles of Incorporation, are as follows:

(a) To accept by gift, devise, bequest or otherwise, property of every kind and description, without limit as to amount, including acceptance of gifts to be used for specified purposes provided such specified purposes are within the limitations set forth in these Articles of Incorporation with respect to the educational and charitable purposes of the Corporation;

(b) To make donations, gifts and contributions, and to award scholarships, fellowships, grants and loans from the income and/or assets of the Corporation to students or prospective students of Cleveland-Marshall College of Law of The Cleveland State University;

(c) To promote or assist in the establishment, construction, improvement, development, maintenance, and/or operation of any library or libraries serving the faculty, students and/or graduates of Cleveland-Marshall College of Law of The Cleveland State University;

(d) To aid or assist in the training of teachers in the field of law, and in the development, improvement and maintenance of such teaching skills;

(e) To collect data, encourage research, undertake or finance studies and provide information and objective findings on matters involving law, legal education or related fields of higher education;

(f) To purchase, lease or otherwise hold, invest, reinvest, use, mortgage, pledge, exchange, sell, assign, transfer or otherwise dispose of both real and personal property of any kind and description, or interest therein, and to exercise in respect of such property any and all rights and privileges of ownership; and

(g) To do every other act suitable and proper in, or incidental or appurtenant to the accomplishment of the purposes of this Corporation, either alone or in association with other organizations, corporations or individuals, provided such act is not inconsistent with these Articles of Incorporation.

The Foundation has assets in excess of $50,000 which represent contributions made to Cleveland-Marshall Law School through the years for educational purposes. In some cases such contributions were made for specific purposes such as annual prizes. The court decree effecting the merger did not give specific directions in this regard, but the Foundation trustees determined that these prizes would be given until the particular funds are exhausted.

Money from the fund may be expended by the Dean for the purposes set forth in the Articles, providing he receives a concurrence of at least two other trustees in each case.

The Educational Foundation has no relationship to the Cleveland-Marshall Law School endowment which was turned over to Cleveland State University. This endowment is to remain intact with the interest to be used for College of Law purposes, at the discretion of Cleveland State trustees and upon the advice of an Advisory Board which will represent the Cleveland-Marshall trustees, alumni, and corporate members.

The purposes of the Foundation were outlined to the trustees of the Cleveland-Marshall Alumni Association by Dean Gaynor at its meeting on January 15 and he expressed the hope that additional contributions will be made to the fund so that its purposes may be fulfilled.

When asked for specific examples as to possible uses of the fund, Dean Gaynor said that some money might be used for an assistance fund because of needy students when funds are not otherwise available. He added that upon occasion, a student may meet with a sudden financial disaster, such as unexpected illness in the family, and that these funds might be used for emergency assistance in such cases.

He said that further consideration would be given by the trustees of the Foundation for use of some of the fund for the benefit of the College of Law where a requirement is apparent and public funds are not otherwise available.

The funds which have been given to the Foundation have come from many sources. To cite just a few examples, there is the Judge David C. Meck, Sr., Memorial Scholarship Award; the Loan Fund established in memory of Clifford G. Duffield and Salina G. Kaufman to provide loan aid for worthy students; a fund established by Abe H. Dudnik in memory of his mother for use of worthy students; an assistance fund in memory of Judge David C. Meck, Jr.; a memorial fund to commemorate the late Philip E. Knowlton; a fund in memory of the late Orville J. Weaver; and a fund in memory of the late William E. Baldwin.

Among the annual awards which will be administered by the Foundation are one established by Suggs I. Garber, an annual cash prize in memory of the late Sidney A. Levine, and an annual memorial award established by the Banks-Baldwin Company in memory of Judge Lee E. Skeel.

Dean Gaynor said that he hopes to give recognition, on a board in the College of Law building, to those who contribute to the Foundation.

CARL E. WASMUTH, M.D., '59
TO HEAD AMA COMMITTEE

Carl E. Wasmuth, M.D., chairman of the Board of Governors of the Cleveland Clinic and a 1959 graduate of Cleveland Marshall Law School, has been named chairman of the American Medical Association's prestigious Committee on legal medicine.

Dr. Wasmuth's appointment makes him also Co-chairman of the Liaison Committee between the American Medical Association and the American Bar Association.

Before the merger of this law school with Cleveland State University, Dr. Wasmuth served as Chairman of the Board of Trustees of Cleveland-Marshall Law School.

ALUMNI BRIEFS

DON NILES, '69, reports he is now located in Fort Lauderdale, Fla. where he is assistant city solicitor . . . ROGER TEBBETS, '69, is now associated with the Cozza & Steuer law firm ... KENNETH STEHN, '67, recent recipient of a Court of Appeals to a position with the U.S. Justice Department, Cleveland office . . . MICHAEL GAREAU, '67, has become associated with the Wegman & Reseler law firm.

TOM BUSCH JOINS NATIONAL CITY BANK

Thomas A. Busch, '67, has recently been appointed a Trust Officer of National City Bank, following seven years spent in the trust department of Union Commerce Bank.

Tom is an active member of both the Ohio and Cleveland Bar Associations, the Cleveland-Marshall Law Alumni Association and Delta Theta Phi law fraternity.

He and his family live at 4395 West 213th St., Fairview Park.