Three New Professors Are Added; it was possible to find enough men and an associate faculty of the Criminal Branch of the Court subsequently made unnecessary by an

Mr. A. E. Wilson of Allstate presents check to Dean Oleck and Professor Sheard.

Cleveland-Marshall Law School

Lots of Volunteers, But No Project

Cleveland-Marshall Law School students responded in large numbers to an appeal for help in interviewing indigent prisoners who wait in jail simply because they could not post a money bail.

Although the project was subsequently made unnecessary by an action of the Presiding Judge of the Criminal Branch of the Court of Common Pleas, the response of the students was worthy of the highest traditions of the legal profession.

What was more remarkable was the fact that out of a student body of fully employed men and women it was possible to find enough people to provide for twenty students a day throughout the week, both winter and summer.

As the program was set out by a committee consisting of a representative from the Cleveland-Marshall Law School, the Cleveland Bar Association and the Cuyahoga County Bar Association, students were to interview every accused before his preliminary hearing.

Then, on the basis of a standardized questionnaire, students were to report to the judge whether or not the defendant met the Vera Foundation standards for release on personal recognizance.

This would mean that if the man had lived in Cuyahoga County for a year and had no previous convictions he could be released until the time of his trial.

While personal freedom is important merely from the standpoint of personal convenience, experience has shown that the man who is free to help prepare his case has a better chance of acquittal.

Until Judge Hugh A. Corrigan instituted his bail bond program, the choice of who was to go free was largely in the hands of the professional bail bondsmen. This was the reason for the need for student help.

It had been intended that the students would operate a pilot program until the public authorities were convinced that the project was worthwhile.

Judge Corrigan short cut the red tape and persuaded the county officials to underwrite the expenses of professional full time workers, thus accomplishing the long range objective of the Bail Project without the necessity of the trial period.

Three New Professors Are Added; Brennan, Teare, Trubow to Join C-M

The addition of two men to the faculty of Cleveland-Marshall Law School of Baldwin-Wallace College was announced by Judge Lee E. Skeel, Chief Administrative Officer of the Law School and Vice President of Baldwin-Wallace College.

Named to the full-time faculty are Assistant Professors of Law George B. Trubow and James T. Brennan. This will give the law school a full-time faculty of twelve men and an associate faculty of 17.

Donald A. Teare has been added as an instructor on the Associate Faculty, consisting of practicing attorneys, to teach Patent Law. He is a member of the Cleveland patent law firm of Teare, Fetzer & Teare.

Professor Trubow, who will teach courses in Equity, and Procedure, and who will assist in the law school's Most Court program, was graduated from the University of Michigan, receiving his A.B. degree in 1955, and his LL.B. in 1958. He undertook graduate stu-
The Gavel hopes everyone has a pleasant summer recess

The Gavel

The Gavel is a publication of the students of Cleveland-Marshal Law School of Baldwin-Wallace College. Published six times each school year. 1240 Ontario St., Cleveland, Ohio.

Editor: Melvin Gross

Page Editors: Robert Bendis, Mildred Schad, Les Needham, Fred Piezelduz

Layout Editor: Ralph Kingstedt

Reporters: Russ Glorioso, Don Moore, John Klein, Bob Frost, Nancy Schuster, Ken Biers.

We gratefully acknowledge the help of the Student Council and administration, without whose support this publication would not be possible.

The Gavel

The Gavel is a publication of the students of Cleveland-Marshal Law School of Baldwin-Wallace College. Published six times each school year. 1240 Ontario St., Cleveland, Ohio.

Editor: Melvin Gross

Page Editors: Robert Bendis, Mildred Schad, Les Needham, Fred Piezelduz

Layout Editor: Ralph Kingstedt

Reporters: Russ Glorioso, Don Moore, John Klein, Bob Frost, Nancy Schuster, Ken Biers.

We gratefully acknowledge the help of the Student Council and administration, without whose support this publication would not be possible.

The Gavel

The Gavel is a publication of the students of Cleveland-Marshal Law School of Baldwin-Wallace College. Published six times each school year. 1240 Ontario St., Cleveland, Ohio.

Editor: Melvin Gross

Page Editors: Robert Bendis, Mildred Schad, Les Needham, Fred Piezelduz

Layout Editor: Ralph Kingstedt

Reporters: Russ Glorioso, Don Moore, John Klein, Bob Frost, Nancy Schuster, Ken Biers.

We gratefully acknowledge the help of the Student Council and administration, without whose support this publication would not be possible.
The alumni of Cleveland-Marshall Law School are responding "admirably" to the Alumni Association's first fund drive, according to Dom-

Sponding first year goal toward the costs of the school's new building. We are also awaiting the membership list of the Association,” said Dottor.

The fund drive has already netted approximately $15,000, after only two mailings to alumni. More than 25% of the active membership has al-ted to date. Listed below are the contributors:

Up to $10
Adrine, Russell T.; Baird, Jack; Brown, James Jay Jr.; Cor-

cell, Donald N.; Cross, John R.; Dell, G. H.; Donaldson, Donald A.; Eckert, John B.; Egbert, Howard T.; Ewing, John C.; Foxx, John; Gallager, Owen P.; Gan-ger, William W.; Gainer, Frank E.; Goldsmith, Peter M.; Gough, John D.; Gue-rini, Joseph W.; Haffey, James R.; Hammond, John R.; Hanley, Robert W.; Hefsinger, John H.; Henrie, Ralph Jr.; Hosts, Johannes Blisder; Hud-a, Gerald; Manning, Charles; Myers, Albert H.; Paulino, Louis B.; Paul, Anthony; Nickels, Thomas; Petrie, Robert D.; Renner, Fred;ENA, Jan-

es, John M.; Roeth, Albert; Rocker, L.; Sanders, Albert J.; Wykoff, L. C.; Selley, Louis A.; Shatell, E.; Smith, S. H.; Smith, E. D.; Smith, L. C.;

MUNICIPAL COURT JUDGES:
Augustus Parker, Chief Judge, Joseph F. Brennan, Michael J. Cas-

cido, Bernard J. Conway, Edward D. Feighan, Norman A. Fuest, Martin H. Gordon, John W. Harrison, Ronald J. Mack.

PROBATE COURT: Anthony Rutkowski, Eugene S. Sawick, Joseph Stearns, Paul White,

TALTY, WALTER E. JR.; Weeks, John H.

Keep News Coming!
Now that the Alumni News is being published every six weeks or so, in conjunction with the award-winning Gavel, ask yourself or another alumni, keep it. We'll be happy to publish it.

James C. Con-

nelli, Chief Judge of the United States District Court for the Northern District of Ohio, is the chairman of the Law School’s first fund drive.
It will be Master of Ceremonies at the Alumni Luncheon.

All segments of the community will be represented in paying gifts to the Cleveland-Marshall Law School.

Don’t Forget
ANNUAL ALUMNI
LUNCHEON
MAY 25, 1965
Sherraton-Cleveland
Hotel
Tickets: $3.50

See Record Crowd at Alumni Luncheon
On May 25, at the Sherraton-Cleveland Hotel, the Cleveland-Marshall Law School Alumni, will hold the biggest "Alumni Luncheon" in history.

General Chairman Aaron Jacobson estimates "well over 1000" will be there to help honor
Chief Justice Emeritus Samuel H. Silberman of the Common Pleas Court as "Alumnus of the Year."
Law Wives Give Richards Grant; Dean Oleck Praises Zealous Work

The Law Wives annual Spring Scholarship Dinner Dance at the Greenbriar was a most successful social event. Following the dinner, Shirley Gygli, President of the Law Wives, introduced Assoc. Dean Howard L. Oleck.

Dean Oleck’s message praised the Law Wives for their noble work throughout the school year and in particular for their successful efforts of awarding a scholarship to a married Cleveland-Marshall student.

This is believed to be the first scholarship ever awarded by any Law Wives Club in the country. Since the founding of the Law Wives a few short years ago, the club has truly established its motto of working with their husbands toward a clear family relationship and in particular for their success.

President Oleck also mentioned that the 8 Wives a few short years ago, the club has truly established its motto of working with their husbands toward a clear family relationship and in particular for their success.

Pneumatic tool chips away front window where Daily Legal News desks once stood. New construction will include a Meate Court, two additional classrooms, and administrative offices on the first floor, scheduled for completion by the middle of the month.