ANNUAL RECOGNITION LUNCHEON
TO HONOR OUTSTANDING ALUMNI

TERRANCE P. GRAVENS '77

Terry Gravens is a leader. He gives of himself unselfishly to the institutions and the people who mean a great deal to him. Terry's leadership is motivated by commitment — a commitment to serve and to make a difference.

Those who have known Terry and have had the privilege of working with him know how much energy, wit and caring comes into a room when he arrives. Terry brings passion to every activity. He is a vigorous competitor who still plays basketball as often as three times per week. He is a dedicated professional whose concerns reach the highest standards of lawyering. Terry is an unfailing friend who is always willing to listen.

Terry brings these same qualities to his civic activities. Blessed with a quick and analytical mind, as well as a big heart, he recognizes problems and solutions quickly without neglecting the human element. He is tenacious, yet attentive to the views of others, ever building a consensus and moving forward. This is what distinguishes him from most others.

Terry distinguished himself through many involvements as a student, beginning in his high school years at St. Ignatius. A 1969 graduate, his yearbook featured him as one of "twelve seniors who have demonstrated the intellectual, spiritual and emotional maturity of ideal Ignatians." In 1973, he graduated cum laude from Georgetown University, with an A.B. in American Studies. Terry continues his commitment to that university through his activities with the Georgetown Club of Cleveland.

As an alumnus of St. Ignatius, Terry's dedication and commitment led to the Presidency of the St.

JUDGE ANN K. DYKE '68

Judge Ann Dyke is a kind and genuine person. She is always considerate of others first and foremost, putting aside important matters of her own to help others. She is understanding of the needs of working people, never forgetting that she was at one time struggling to raise her children and work at the same time. She not only is a considerate professional, but a wonderful mother.

Ann Kirchner Dyke was born in Cleveland, Ohio on April 29, 1936 and

LETTER FROM THE PRESIDENT

by Richard S. Koblenz ’75

As this column is being written, your Alumni Association is completing plans for the “stretch run” of our fiscal year, culminating in our Annual Meeting on June 20 at 5:30 P.M. at the Law School, where our new Officers and Trustees will be installed. All alumni are welcome to attend the meeting, which will be followed by a cocktail reception honoring Dean Steven R. Smith, in recognition of his tremendous contributions to the Cleveland-Marshall College of Law, as evidenced by the esteem in which our Alma Mater is held in academic circles, as well as throughout the legal community.

On April 6, we will hold the first of our eight Saturday morning CLE seminars, which run through June 22. Professor James J. Flaherty has planned another series of programs geared to the needs of the practicing bar, which should be both informative and topical.

The evening of April 10 promises to be special as the Life Members of CMLAA, through the Student Assistance and Scholarship Committee and the Board of Trustees, present the first Cleveland-Marshall Law Alumni Association scholarships to ten deserving students. The awards ceremony will be followed by a reception honoring the recipients and their families.

Our satellite chapters in Washington, D.C. and Columbus, Ohio will be having receptions for local alumni, hosted in conjunction with Dean Smith and the Law School. The Washington group has planned their event for May 9 at 2322 Rayburn on Capitol Hill from 6:00 P.M. to 8:00 P.M. The Columbus party will be held on April 24. I’m confident that both evenings will prove to be enjoyable for all.

One of our highlight events is the Annual Recognition Luncheon on May 3 at the Statler, chaired by Anna Anastos. In addition to recognizing the contributions of our Outstanding Alumni of the Year, Judge Ann Dyke and Terry Gravens, we will present two new awards. The first Alumni Association award honoring Faculty Excellence, The Dean Wilson G. Stapleton Award, will be presented to Professor Stephen R. Werber and the Inaugural President’s Award will recognize a distinguished alumnus for service to the Law Alumni Association. I look forward to welcoming all of you to one of the Cleveland legal community’s most popular events.

We will continue one of our Association’s longest traditions when we host the Bar Results Party on May 10 in the Atrium of the Law School. We invite you to join us as we welcome our profession’s newest members at this semi-annual celebration.

We have not only been planning—we have also been acting. Our dream of providing a pro bono program, which consists of a partnership of individual alumni, a number of C-M faculty members and students, has come to fruition. Providing basic essential legal assistance to the families of our servicemen and women in the Gulf has become the first pro bono project for our constituency. Gary Maxwell, Chairman of our pro bono sub-committee, has been instrumental in coordinating our efforts with the Operation Homecoming team to support this project.

On March 7, we welcomed the Class of 1991 at a social hour, held through the joint efforts of our Social Committee and the Student Bar Association. This second annual welcoming party for our newest members promises to become as traditional as the Bar Results Parties.

In my opinion, the initiation of the Faculty-Life Member program, in which Law School faculty members take life membership in our Association, is the highlight of our year. To have faculty members recognize and appreciate our efforts on behalf of the Law School, the students and the alumni, is truly gratifying.

I am sure that you can see that the Cleveland-Marshall Law Alumni Association has kept the promise which I made to provide service to our entire constituency: alumni, students and the Cleveland-Marshall College of Law. Imagine how much more we can accomplish if more of our graduates, such as yourselves, would join our ranks. Please return the membership application in this issue of Law Notes and become part of a great organization.

DID YOU KNOW . . .

The Cleveland-Marshall Law Alumni Association is supported only by your dues and its activities. The Law Alumni Association is not affiliated with the Cleveland State University Alumni Association — we are not a constituent group! Recently a CSU Alumni flyer misstated that as a member of the CSU Alumni you would automatically become a member of the Cleveland-Marshall Law Alumni Association. This is not the case. Any literature which you receive from CSU Alumni and states that you are a member of CMLAA is incorrect. If you have joined CSU Alumni and are under the belief you would also be joining CMLAA, please contact the Cleveland-Marshall Law Alumni Office. Thank you.
MESSAGE FROM THE DEAN

Often I have used this column to write about matters pertaining to the excellent classroom instruction at Cleveland-Marshall. Now I would like to describe two programs at the Law School in which our students and faculty leave the classroom behind, at least for a while, and bring their expertise and energies to projects that serve the community.

Sixteen years ago Professors David Barnhizer and Elisabeth Dreyfuss (class of 1978) created a Street Law Program at Cleveland-Marshall, modeled on a highly successful program at Georgetown University. Ms. Dreyfuss was a law student then, but as a former teacher in the Cleveland Heights-University Heights school system, she perceived that the clinical component of the Georgetown program held enormous potential for educating our own students, as well as for aiding the troubled Cleveland schools. The Georgetown model placed law students in area high schools in a variety of teaching and learning settings. Professor Barnhizer and Ms. Dreyfuss began designing a program suited to our school and our community. Ms. Dreyfuss’ commitment to the program as a student made her a logical choice to head the program and, in 1978, she became Director of Cleveland-Marshall’s Street Law Program, the second street law program in the country and the first in Ohio.

Over the years the Street Law Program under Professor Dreyfuss, now Assistant Dean for Community Education About Law, has become one of the nation’s most respected law-related education programs, and Dean Dreyfuss has repeatedly developed new ways of expanding the program into the community. Best of all, the Street Law Program is credited with many high school students to continue their education. One such young person was Artemus Carter, a student at the Cleveland Law and Public Service Magnet School, whose contact with the Street Law Program nine years ago inspired him to pursue a degree in education at CSU. So impressed was Professor Dreyfuss with Mr. Carter’s capabilities that she hired him as Street Law’s student liaison with the Cleveland school system. Two of our law students also have maintained close ties with the Street Law Program: Pamela Daiker, class of 1988, is now its Associate Director and Sonia Winner, class of 1990, is its Staff Assistant.

One of the exciting projects undertaken by Dean Dreyfuss and her staff is joint sponsorship with the Ohio Mock Trial Program of the Annual Areawide Mock Trials Competition. The Law School has just finished hosting the sixteenth competition, and we are still enjoying the exuberance that high school students “turned-on” to law bring to this event. Thirty teams from six school districts in Cuyahoga County competed this year, and 16 of our Street Law students acted as coaches, mentors and peer models for the younger students. Each team argued both sides of Lee Green v. Tulleysburg Board of Education, a fictional case based on an actual case of alleged ethnic discrimination in a high school. The dedication and poise of these youngsters was remarkable and reminded many of us of our earliest surge of enthusiasm for our future careers. So well-received has this project been in the Cleveland area that every year several attorneys and jurists participate as Mock Trial judges. Sixty members of the bar took time to officiate at the 1991 Mock Trial hearings.

County Commissioner Tim Hagan was present to deliver certificates of award to all the young attorneys, witnesses, defendants and plaintiffs who had committed themselves so diligently to their schools’ mock trial teams. Commissioner Hagan announced the winning teams as well. The 1991 top competitors were second place winner North Royalton High School and first place winner Shaw High School. The North Royalton team was coached by Carol Morrison, a business law teacher at the school. Ms. Morrison was assisted by Scott Williams, a 1990 graduate of Cleveland-Marshall and the College’s 1990 Street Law Student of the Year. Mr. Williams, a real estate lawyer, returned as a volunteer to North Royalton to help the team he had coached as a student. Ms. Lori Urogody-Eiler, 1991 Ohio Teacher of the Year and 1991 state and national Social Studies Teacher of the Year, coached the Shaw team. Both teams will now go to Columbus to compete in the state competition. Last year the Shaw team, under the direction of Ms. Urogody-Eiler, won first place in the state and went on to place second in the national competition in Portland, Oregon.

A few years ago I became acquainted with the Great Stories Program conducted by the University of Louisville. In the Louisville program, “facilitators” from the College of Arts and Sciences and the Law School held seminars for lawyers, executives and professionals. These very successful seminars used some of the world’s great works of literature to provoke discussions on moral values and to illustrate complex social issues. So many good reports from people who had attended the seminars prompted Professor Arthur Landever and me to contact our own CSU College of Arts and Sciences to see if we might co-sponsor a team of facilitators from the Louisville colleges for our local attorneys and CSU faculty and staff. Thus, it was a great pleasure last fall to discover that the Cleveland legal community was eager to take part in the Great Stories program. The Louisville team discussed works chosen to engage the hearts and minds of attorneys, literature that addresses the nature of justice and equality. Among the novels and plays examined were Melville’s Billy Budd, and Sophocles’ Antigone. The seminars attracted a number of excellent attorneys including these College of Law alumni: Hon. Russell T. Adrine, Sheryl King Benford, Annette Butler, Hon. Stanley M. Fisher, Hon. Charles W. Fleming, Terrance P. Gravens, Thomas W. Gray, Irving L. Heller, Richard S. Kobeltz, Herbert Palkovitz, Leon M. Plevin, Gerald R. Walton, Hon. Lesley Brooks Wells, and John D. Wheeler. These judges and attorneys were joined by these

WASHINGTON, D.C. RECEPTION IGNITES INTEREST

On Thursday, January 3, The Cleveland-Marshall College of Law sponsored a cocktail reception at the Washington Hilton for the Washington, D.C. area alumni. Various faculty and staff attending the American Association of Law Schools (AALS) Annual Meeting were on hand and an enjoyable evening was had by all.

As a result of the enthusiasm of our D.C. alumni, the Law Alumni Association has instituted a Washington, DC. area satellite chapter, which will be chaired by William L. Bransford '75. In conjunction with the Law School, a kick-off party for the chapter will be held on May 9 at 2322 Rayburn on Capitol Hill from 6:00 P.M. to 8:00 P.M. Special thanks to Congressman Dennis Eckart '74, who is assisting Mr. Bransford in the establishment of the D.C. chapter.

We plan for a very special evening and hope to see our fellow alumni at this reception. For further information, please contact Bill Bransford at 202-463-8400 or Alumni Director Mary McKenna at 216-687-2368.
As our hopes and prayers for a speedy resolution to the Gulf War were answered, many families whose loved ones flew, marched and sailed into harm's way are still burdened by problems created by their absence. In addition to the obvious emotional trauma inherent with war, families of servicepersons experience problems which are legal in nature, or at least, involve a legal component. Often, those left at home to cope and deal with these problems are trapped between the proverbial rock and hard place. Due to a decrease in income to the household, they can no longer afford the services of an attorney and yet they are ineligible to receive legal aid assistance at no cost.

It becomes increasingly difficult for family members to make the monthly rent or mortgage payments, balances due on consumer debt and tuition payments for their own or their children's education. In addition, probate matters are a sad, but very real consequence of armed conflict. These areas represent some of the circumstances where the advice and counsel of experienced attorneys would make a significant impact upon resolving their plight. Intervention by an attorney on their behalf and at no cost to the serviceperson's family can be the answer to their dilemma.

With this in mind, the Cleveland-Marshall Law Alumni Association has organized a coordinated effort between Operation Homecoming and a number of students, faculty and alumni of Cleveland-Marshall College of Law to provide pro bono legal services to the families of our servicemen and women. Even though the fighting has ceased, it is anticipated that the need for such services will still be necessary, as it will be at least six months before all our servicemen and women return.

It must be absolutely clear at the outset and throughout the duration of this undertaking that neither Operation Homecoming nor the Cleveland-Marshall Law Alumni Association are political organizations. This endeavor must in no way be construed as a statement regarding the rightness or wrongness of the war itself. It is merely a statement from the Law Alumni Association concerning its obligation to serve our neighbors in need. We trust that the spirit in which this obligation is performed will remain to assist the members of families who are continuously fighting the war on the homefront against unemployment, homelessness, abuse and illiteracy.

If you know of someone in need of these legal services, contact Operation Homecoming at 991-HOME or 641-5567. If you are an attorney interested in joining us, please contact Mary McKenna at 687-2368.

MINORITY CONCERNS

The Minority Concerns committee meets the first Wednesday of each month in Judge White's Chambers at noon.

Please notify Sheryl King Benford '79 at 566-5104, as space is limited.
Any day now, Andrew Hudacko '71, will begin phoning and writing friends, acquaintances, business contacts and anyone else he can think of to find sponsors and runners for the Second Annual Debbie Hudacko Memorial Scholarship Five Kilometer Run and Two Kilometer Walk, sponsored by the Mayfield Village Recreation Council. This year, the race will be held in Mayfield Village on June 28, 1991, a few weeks before the first anniversary of the death of his 14-year-old daughter, Debbie, from cancer of the brain stem. The money that Mr. Hudacko and the other runners raise will fund scholarships in his daughter's memory at St. Francis School in Gates Mills, where Debbie was a student at the time of her death and at Mayfield High School, where his 17-year-old daughter, Becky, is a straight A student.

In organizing the event, Mr. Hudacko is joined by his wife, Andrea, and his daughter, Becky. The Hudacko family is used to working together. Soon after Debbie was diagnosed with terminal cancer in 1988, Andrew quit his job at the Ohio Association of Public School Employees to be near his daughter and family. Andrea worked part-time, and Becky was never far from her sister. The last summer that Debbie lived, Becky turned down an opportunity to participate in a five-week program for high school students at Miami of Ohio because she knew that her days together with her sister were limited.

The Hudacko family is also used to triumph. The final two years of Debbie's life were numbered by the kind of victories that sustain the families of the terminally ill. Debbie survived seven weeks of twice-daily radiation therapy and went to Disney World as a guest of the Make-A-Wish Foundation. Hospitalized repeatedly and eventually unable to maintain her balance, Debbie, who all her life had loved classic cars, relished a ride in a '62 Ford Fairlane. And, finally, barely recovered from a bout with pneumonia, Debbie made her way to her eighth grade graduation ceremony in an ambulance. Debbie died at home with her family in August of 1990.

The example of Andrew, Andrea, Debbie and Becky Hudacko instructed many in the ineffable nature of courage. The race that admits no losers is a fitting tribute to Debbie Hudacko, whose life allowed no defeats. If you would like to participate in the Debbie Hudacko Memorial Scholarship Race, either as a runner, a walker or a sponsor, call Andrew Hudacko at 461-9328.

law faculty "students": Dennis Keating, Arthur Landever, Lizabeth Moody, Stephen Lazarus, Andrew Trew and me. Many other lawyers and jurists as well as CSU faculty also attended. By all standards, the program was a great success.

Now Professor Landever, as Acting Director of the newly formed CSU Great Stories Program, has designed a one-day literary seminar for doctors on May 10th. CSU law and humanities faculty will lead the discussions. Professor Landever's suggested titles include: Tolstoy's The Death of Ivan Ilyich, Conrad's The Secret Sharer, and Faulkner's Pantaloon in Black, all chosen for thematic material which should spark the interest of doctors. Because this program, like our Health Law Program and our Medical Institute for Law Faculty, is another instance of the College's growing involvement with the health care profession, I am indeed pleased that our Law School is the first in Cleveland to attempt so "novel" an approach to strengthening our bonds with the medical community of Cleveland.
CLEVELAND-MARSHALL ALUMNA ELECTED TO APPELLATE COURT

by Bari Teamor

Patricia Ann Blackmon '75 became the first Black woman ever elected to the Ohio Appellate Court in a historic swearing-in ceremony in the Cleveland City Council Chambers at Cleveland City Hall on February 7, 1991.

The elaborate ceremony included a procession of judges and greetings by the Honorable Michael R. White, Mayor of the City of Cleveland, City Council President Jay Westbrook, numerous distinguished Cleveland judges and the newly-elected Cuyahoga County Prosecutor Stephanie Tubbs Jones. Blackmon was robed by Judge Una Keenon '75 of the East Cleveland Court and sworn in by former C-M professor, Judge Ann Aldrich, Northern District of Ohio, Eastern Division. The program, which attracted a standing room only crowd, was emceed by Judge Shirley Strickland Saffold '76.

In a remarkable first-time run for office, Blackmon, 40, won phenomenal support from both the east and west sides in her county-wide campaign. Most recently staff counsel for the Ohio Turnpike Commission, Blackmon served as Assistant Prosecutor for the City of Cleveland, Managing Attorney with the United Auto Workers Legal Services, partner with the firm Johnson, Keenon and Blackmon and Counselor for the Victim/Witness program.

She is a member of the Cleveland Bar Association, the Ohio Bar Association, the Cleveland Charter Review Commission, the Norman S. Minor Bar Association, the Black Women's Political Action Committee, Past President of the Women's Lawyers Association and an alumnus of Leadership Cleveland, class of 1987-1988.

CLEVELAND-MARSHALL LAW ALUMNI COMPRIZE PROBATE COURT JUDICIARY

by Jane S. Flaherty ’88

Judge John J. Donnelly’s Bachelor of Science in Accounting led him to the Accounts Department of the Cuyahoga County Probate Court in 1965, where he worked throughout law school. In 1969, Judge Donnelly became a Trial Referee and in 1973, he was appointed Court Administrator and Chief Trial Referee. Judge Donnelly was elected to the probate bench in 1980, where for nearly a decade he worked with then Presiding Judge Francis J. Talty. The year 1990 brought the retirement of Judge Talty and the re-election of Judge Donnelly, who now sits as Presiding Judge of that court. Judge Talty has remained with the court as a visiting Judge.

In 1986, Judge Donnelly received the C-M Outstanding Alumnus Award at the Annual Recognition Luncheon. He remains active in the Law Alumni Association, both as an Honorary Trustee and as a frequent speaker at our CLE seminars. Judge Donnelly and his wife, Ellen live in Rocky River and are the parents of three children, Michael, Colette and Timothy.

Often since 1974, the suggestion has been made that the Law School offer a course dealing with the important labor and income tax legislation known as the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (as amended). Now such a course has been proposed by Professor Joan Baker and is being seriously considered by the College of Law Curriculum Committee.

As proposed, the course will largely deal with ERISA’s impact on a host of employment and business related problems, including collective bargaining, tax planning, multi-employer bargaining arrangements, mergers, acquisitions, leveraged buyouts, plant closings, layoffs and bankruptcies.

Please address any expressions of interest to the Curriculum Committee Chairperson, Professor Louis Geneva at 687-2346 and/or Associate Dean Carroll Sierk at 687-2307.

E.R.I.S.A. COURSE PROPOSED FOR COLLEGE OF LAW CURRICULUM

After graduating from Xavier University in 1958, Judge John E. Corrigan entered Cleveland-Marshall College of Law while working a full-time job. After his first year, he took a job in the law library, became active in the College of Law and was elected Class President in his senior year.

Once admitted to the Ohio Bar, Judge Corrigan was in private practice for twelve years and was Assistant Ohio Attorney General. In 1980, he was appointed judge in the General Division of the Cuyahoga County Court of Common Pleas. In February of this year, Judge Corrigan began a new career on the bench in the Probate Division of the Common Pleas Court. He and his wife, Beverly have five children, Peter, Kathleen, Sheila, Sean and Kevin.

SECOND ANNUAL DISTRICT DIRECTOR'S
CONFERENCE ON FEDERAL ESTATE GIFT TAX

A program covering Federal estate and gift tax issues, co-sponsored by the Cleveland District of the Internal Revenue Service and Cleveland-Marshall College of Law, will be held at the Law School on May 29, 1991, from 9:00 A.M. to 4:30 P.M. A reception will follow the conference. The program will consist of presentations of leading questions of the day followed by IRS responses covering:

- Current Cleveland District estate and gift tax examination issues.
- Form 1041 issues including the 2% floor on itemized deductions, the excise tax on accumulated pension distributions and disclaimers.
- Disqualification issues relating to the marital deduction including QTIP elections, specific portion definition, spendthrift provisions and provisions allowing spouse to pay expenses of minors.
- Current issues relating to the estate tax inclusion of lifetime transfers including durable and nondurable powers of attorney, joint account transfers, checks issued and uncashed and transfers from revocable trusts within three years.
- Negligence, valuation and fraud penalties in the estate and gift tax area.
- New chapter 14 valuation of estate freeze planning issues.
- Estate and gift tax issues relating to life insurance including life insurance trusts and split (and reverse split) dollar life insurance.
- Problem resolution in the estate and gift tax area including Section 6166 computations, abatements, lost returns and requests for extensions.

Leslie Shapiro, Director of Practice, National Office, Internal Revenue Service will deliver the luncheon address on “Practitioner No-No’s”. Richard Grosgebauer, Internal Revenue Service Office of Associate Chief Counsel (Technical) or Frederic Grundeman, Principle Draftsman of the Proposed Chapter 14 Regulations and Al Sicking, Cincinnati Service Center Estate Tax Attorney will also participate. For additional information, contact Sandra Natran, Cleveland-Marshall College of Law at 216-687-2354. The program will qualify for five hours of Continuing (Legal and Accounting) Education. Luncheon seating is limited to the first 175 registrants.

VICTOR STREIB AND THE DUE PROCESS RIGHTS OF JUVENILE MURDERERS

For the past 15 years, Professor Victor Streib has been involved in securing the rights of young persons convicted of murder and sentenced to death. On behalf of the rights of these troubled children, he has been an unrelenting spokesperson, and his work as scholar and advocate has earned him a national reputation as an authority on juvenile homicide and capital punishment. Streib is the author of Juvenile Justice in America (1978), Death Penalty for Juveniles (1987), and many law review articles on this topic. In 1988, he represented Wayne Thompson, an Oklahoma youth sentenced to die for a murder he committed when he was 15. Thompson's case was eventually heard by the U.S. Supreme Court. The high court's ruling in Thompson v. Oklahoma spared the life of Wayne Thompson and, in effect, made it unlawful to impose the death penalty on anyone convicted of a capital crime at the age of 16 or younger. In 1989, Streib traveled to Indiana to represent another juvenile on death row. Like Thompson, Paula Cooper was 15 when she committed murder. Amid intense international media coverage, Streib convinced the Indiana Supreme Court to reverse the young woman's death sentence.

Now Streib finds himself injected into another case that is also the object of intense media scrutiny. In March 1989, Cameron Kocher was a nine year-old living in a small town in Pennsylvania when he got hold of a hunting rifle and shot and killed a seven year-old neighbor girl. Professor Streib was called to serve as one of Cameron's lawyer after the boy's local attorney heard Streib debating the case on NBC's Today Show and read statements made by Streib in interviews to The New York Times and the ABA Journal. According to Streib, Cameron, at age nine, was too young under Pennsylvania law to be adjudicated delinquent in juvenile court, where the minimum age for offender jurisdiction is ten years. Nevertheless, seeking a means to punish the boy, the prosecutor had the boy indicted and is prosecuting him for murder in the adult criminal court, where no minimum age exists. Professor Streib is unsparing of the prosecutor's logic: "It's like putting a cub scout in an X-rated movie because he's too young for an R-rated movie." The case is now before the Pennsylvania Supreme Court, where Streib and his co-counsel predict a ruling that will prevent the state from trying the boy in criminal court and will, instead, remand the case to juvenile court, where it will be treated as the case of a child in need of services rather than as an offender case.

The prosecutor's murder case depends on a finding of malice, an essential element of murder. Thus, one of the most interesting legal issues Streib is addressing in the case of Cameron Kocher is "whether a nine year-old can have a malicious intent, as defined in the law of murder. We are arguing that even the worst misbehavior of a cub scout in fourth grade cannot be equated with the fundamental wickedness and evil underlying the centuries-old notion of malice."

Professor Streib does not believe the case will be decided before next year. In the meantime, Cameron Kocher approaches his twelfth birthday in legal limbo. Will he be forced into adult criminal court to face a murder conviction and life in prison without parole? Will he be shunted over to juvenile court to receive treatment as a child in need of services? Among these uncertainties, one certainty remains: whatever choice the Pennsylvania court makes, Victor Streib will continue his work for the due process rights of juveniles accused of murder.

The Cleveland-Marshall Law Alumni Association has experienced unprecedented success in the past two years. Under the leadership of Gerald R. Walton '80 (President, 1989/1990) and Richard S. Koblenz '75 (President, 1990/1991), seven (7) very active and productive committees have emerged. Each committee is continuing to make our Association a very important and influential entity in many ways.

As previously noted in past issues of Law Notes, the Law Alumni Association contributes to the Law School and to the practicing lawyer through the many functions performed by our committees. Firmly established are committees dedicated to increasing professional career opportunities for law students and lawyers: a mentoring program for minority students; awarding of student scholarships and financial assistance to deserving students; many social functions including our highly successful Bar Results parties in October and May, as well as our Annual Recognition Luncheon in the Spring of each year.

In addition, our CMLAA-CLE programs have been a tremendous success. We offer sixteen (16) seminars throughout the year on Saturday mornings. Each of the seminars are directed to the general practitioner and are scheduled so as not to interfere with the demands of your busy week day schedules.

In the coming year, 1991-1992, we will again sponsor sixteen (16) continuing legal education seminars. With your paid dues, you will receive a coupon entitling you to a $10.00 discount on PREPAID, PREREGISTERED attendance at ALL SEMINARS. If you personally attend all sixteen (16) seminars, the savings alone will more than triple the annual general membership dues. If for no other reason than simple economics, please submit your membership dues and take advantage of these exceptional legal education programs at a vast savings.

The Board of Trustees and Officers of the Law Alumni Association are proud of the level of success and respect that has been achieved in the recent past by our Association. We hope through the continued support of all graduates of Cleveland-Marshall College of Law that the level of service and commitment will continue.

The Cleveland-Marshall Law Alumni Association receives no financial support from Cleveland State University. We are a separate and distinctly independent Association from CSU's Alumni Association. Do not be fooled or misled by correspondence received from CSU's Alumni Association. If you choose to become a member of that organization, you should know that your membership dues will not be used to fund any of the activities mentioned above and you will not be registered as a member of CMLAA.

For those of you who are current members of the Law Alumni Association, we thank you for your support. For those of you who have not been a member in the recent past, we encourage you to make a commitment to the Law Alumni Association. You have an opportunity to share in the various activities mentioned above and to share in the sense of pride that we all feel by being a part of this great organization. For the first time in the history of the Law Alumni Association, we have a close working relationship with the students and faculty at the Law School and have the ability to impact the quality of the legal education at Cleveland-Marshall.

We offer many membership program packages for the upcoming 1991-1992 fiscal year. For 1991 graduates, our membership is free. For recent graduates (1987-1990), the membership is $25.00. Our general membership still is only $50.00.

The most prestigious membership is the Life Membership. Until June 1, 1991, Life Membership dues are $1,000.00, which can be paid in four (4) annual installments of $250.00 each. After June 1, 1991, the Life Membership will be increased to $1,250.00, payable in five (5) annual payment of $250.00 each or $1,000.00, paid at once. If you join before June 1, 1991, the Life Membership will remain $1,000.00 and you can pay your dues in four (4) annual payments of $250.00 each.

Please take a moment to review the distinguished list of our current Life Membership on page 16. Life Members receive special recognition, including a personalized desk clock upon receipt of their first payment, and their name on a permanent plaque in the Law College Atrium, when their last installment has been made. Most importantly, Life Membership dues help fund student scholarship programs.

Please complete the application form on page 11. As always, your annual dues will not only benefit the Law School but may be tax deductible.

Social Committee

by Anna V. Anastos '85

As spring rapidly approaches, or so we hope, we mark a time of year in which the Law Alumni Association embarks upon a number of annual social events that are enjoyed by all. May promises to be extremely busy as we begin with our Annual Recognition Luncheon, where we will honor two of our most esteemed alumni, Judge Ann Dyke '68 and Terry Gravens '77. Please join us as we recognize the accomplishments of these two outstanding alumni on Friday, May 3, 1991 at 11:30 A.M. at Swingos at the Statler. For tickets and further information, please contact Mary McKenna at the Alumni Office at 687-2368.

On May 10, the most recent members of our profession will be donned with "the privilege of membership." We welcome you to congratulate our newest attorneys at our semi-annual Bar Results cocktail party in the Atrium of the Law School at 5:00 P.M.

Steven R. Smith is Dean and Professor of Law at Cleveland-Marshall College of Law. He became Dean in 1988, after serving as Deputy Director of the Association of American Law Schools in Washington, D.C. Before serving with the AALS, he was Professor of Law at the University of Louisville School of Law. While at Louisville, he also was Associate Dean and Acting Dean. He held an adjunct appointment in the School of Medicine at the University of Louisville.

Dean Smith received his J.D. from the University of Iowa with High Distinction in 1971, and also his M.A. in Economics. His baccalaureate degree (summa cum laude) is from Buena Vista College.

Dean Smith has written widely in the areas of mental health, privacy and confidentiality, bioethics and the law, and law and medicine. His recent book, Law, Behavior and Mental Health: Policy and Practice (with R.G. Meyer), published by NYU Press, has received excellent reviews.

Dean Smith is married to Lera B. Smith, who is studying for her Doctorate in English Literature at the University of Iowa. He is the son of Byrnard and Dorothy Smith of Spirit Lake, Iowa.

As a scholar and a teacher, Dean Smith has received a number of awards including the Grawemeyer Award for creativity in teaching, the President’s Award for outstanding scholarship, research and creative activity and the Distinguished Service Award. At Cleveland-Marshall, he teaches a seminar on Mental Health Law. He is a member of the Order of the COIF and a Brandeis Scholar.

As an administrator, Dean Smith has injected new life into the sometimes tedious details of running a law school. While many will think of him as the author of scholarly works in law and medicine, others know him as author of the Cake of the Month Celebration and the Annual August New Year Holiday Party. The presence of Steven Smith on the CSU campus and in the College of Law adds much to the intellectual integrity of the University. However, his presence and style as an administrator redefine ordinary routines into occasions for companionship and mirth.

Honorable Eugene M. Fellmeth '51

Hon. Eugene M. Fellmeth '51 is a lifelong resident of Canal Fulton, Ohio, who graduated from Wittenberg University in 1948 and received his J.D. from Cleveland-Marshall Law School in 1951. Judge Fellmeth had a private law practice for twenty-two years and is presently serving his second term as Judge of Massillon Municipal Court.

Among the many public offices which he has held, including Police Prosecutor for the Massillon Municipal Court, Solicitor of the Villages of Canal Fulton and Navarre and Recorder of Stark County, Judge Fellmeth was elected to serve as Mayor of Canal Fulton four times. He is a member of the Stark County, Ohio and American Bar Associations, the Massillon Lawyers Club and the American Judicature Society.

Judge Fellmeth served in the United States Air Force as a Tail Gunner on a B-17 based in England during World War II. He was shot down on his thirteenth mission over Hamburg, Germany on December 31, 1944. Although he was able to parachute to safety, Judge Fellmeth was held as a prisoner of war for the duration of the war, when he was liberated personally by General Patton and his Armored Division. For this distinguished and courageous service, Judge Fellmeth was awarded the Air Medal and the Purple Heart.

In addition, Judge Fellmeth is a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, American Legion, various Masonic Orders including Tadmor Shrine, B.P.O.E. Elks Massillon, as a past Exalted Ruler and the Hall of Fame Club. Last, but certainly not least, in 1988, Judge Fellmeth was inducted into the Wittenberg Athletic Hall of Honor.

Professor Stephen J. Werber received his B.A. from Adelphi University, his J.D. from Cornell University Law School and his L.L.M. from New York University. Since 1970, he has served as Assistant Professor, Assistant Dean, Associate Professor and Professor of Law at Cleveland-Marshall. He has been honored in Who's Who In American Law and is the author of many publications. Steve recently revised the Frumer & Friedman, Products Liability, Treatise, Chapter 15, which was published in 1990. His "revision" completely rewrote the chapter, so that it is actually the size of a book - 254 pages.

In addition to teaching, Steve has been a consultant with Weston, Hurd, Fallon, Paisley & Howley for the past seven years. He is a founding member of the Harold H. Burton Chapter of the American Inns of Court and is currently the Secretary-Treasurer of the Chapter.

Steve's dedication to the students, the alumni and the Cleveland-Marshall College of Law resulted in the institution of the CMLAA Faculty-Life Membership program.

In addition to teaching, Steve has been a consultant with Weston, Hurd, Fallon, Paisley & Howley for the past seven years. He is a founding member of the Harold H. Burton Chapter of the American Inns of Court and is currently the Secretary-Treasurer of the Chapter.

Steve's dedication to the students, the alumni and the Cleveland-Marshall College of Law resulted in the institution of the CMLAA Faculty-Life Membership program. As the driving force behind this unique life membership campaign for faculty members, Steve envisioned an alliance between the faculty of the College of Law and its alumni. The funds generated from the Faculty-Life Memberships are dedicated to the Law Alumni Association's scholarship program.

In order to see Professor Werber's eyes light up, one only has to mention the Moot Court Board of Governors at C-M. For the last ten years, Steve has served as Faculty Advisor to this organization and his affiliation can be stated best in his own words: "The most exciting thing, for me, at the College of Law, is my work as Faculty Advisor to the Moot Court Board of Governors. I find this to be an extremely rewarding experience in terms of interrelationship with students, the ability to teach professional skills and professional conduct, and to enjoy the growth of my students and myself through this mutual learning experience."

Steve lives in University Heights with his wife of 23 years, Joan and their children, David and Lauren. Joan, who taught in Harlem prior to moving to Cleveland, provides the family support, both in academic and community affairs. Consistent with the Werber family philosophy, both children are engaged in civic and charitable activities. Steve is quite proud of the award Lauren received for over 250 hours of service at the Menorah Park Home for the Elderly. David is planning to spend six weeks as a member of the "Volunteer in Israel" program, where he will work on a kibbutz.

It is only fitting that Professor Stephen J. Werber will be the first recipient of the newly established Dean Wilson G. Stapleton Award, honoring excellence in teaching, at our Annual Recognition Luncheon on May 3. His commitment to the students, the Law School and the entire Cleveland-Marshall community exemplifies the fact that the spirit of Dean Stapleton lives on at Cleveland-Marshall.

Paul J. Hribar has been appointed by Euclid Mayor David Lynch to serve as Parliamentarian and a member of the Euclid Charter Review Commission. Mr. Hribar is a member of the two previous Euclid Charter Review Commissions under former Mayors Anthony Giunta and Harry Knuth. He is the only person to serve on three consecutive Euclid Charter Review Commissions, which are appointed every eight years by Euclid’s Mayor. Mr. Hribar is also a Life Member of the Law Alumni Association and is working on plans for the class of 1941’s 50-year reunion. For information about the reunion, please call Mr. Hribar at 261-0200 or the Alumni Office at 687-2368.

John Martindale, a partner with Benesch, Friedlander, Coplan & Aronoff, was the speaker for the CBA’s Young Lawyers Section Trial Superstars Seminar. His topic was “The Opening Statement - A Problem in Communication and Advocacy.”

Governor George V. Voinovich has appointed Anthony O. Calabrese, Jr. to judge of the Common Pleas Court. Judge Calabrese is a Life Member of the Law Alumni Association. Congratulations!

James J. McMonagle was featured in the January, 1991 Ohio Law article on “1990’s Top Ten Lateral Hires.” Mr. McMonagle, former Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Judge, left the bench in September, after fourteen years of service, to become Counsel for University Hospitals. He will chair the CMLAA-CLE Medical Malpractice Seminar on June 8 at C-M.

Judge Timothy M. Flanagan spoke at the Divorce Forum co-sponsored by The Plain Dealer and the auxiliary of the CBA. Timothy M. Bittel, William T. Plesec and Joyce E. Barrett are busy making plans for the Class of 1971’s 20-year reunion. A cocktail dinner dance will be held in the Atrium of the Law School on Saturday, October 19, at 7:00 P.M. For further information, please see the notation in this issue of Law Notes.

Thomas O. Gorman recently spoke at the University of Virginia’s Darden Graduate School of Business on disclosure policy under the Federal Securities Laws. He is a former Securities and Exchange Commission Special Trial Counsel and is currently a partner in the Washington, D.C. firm of Cole Corette & Abrutyn. In 1988, Mr. Gorman won a $197.1 million treble-damage verdict against the Hunt brothers and others for manipulating the silver market in 1979 and 1980. He currently represents the Republic of Peru in sovereign debt litigation and renegotiation.

Congratulations to James W. Sanders for being honored as Citizen of the Year by the Rocky River Chamber of Commerce. Since 1976, Mr. Sanders has been an Assistant, Secretary and Counsel with Oglebay Norton Company.

Terry Gilbert, known as an activist attorney, was featured in the February edition of Northern Ohio Live for his long-time dedication in representing those “who seem to be out of mainstream America”.

C. Larry Watson is Acting Regional Attorney for the EEOC in the Northern District of Ohio.

Judges Michael J. Corrigan, Timothy E. McMonagle and Donald C. Nugent loaned their courtrooms and judicial expertise to C-M students in the January, 1991 two-week Trial Advocacy course. Judge Nugent is also the chair of the CMLAA-CLE Civil Procedure seminar on April 6.

Robert Lynn is Assistant General Counsel for General Dynamics Corporation in San Diego, California.

Congratulations to Patricia A. Blackmon, who was sworn in as Judge on the Ohio Court of Appeals 8th District. Judge Blackmon is the first Black woman to be elected to the Appeals Court.
Congratulations to Joseph B. Jerome on his election to the Presidency of the Playhouse Square Business Council. Joe was also highly instrumental in the successful planning of the 15-year reunion for the Class of 1975, which was held in October.

Richard S. Koblenz, President of the Law Alumni Association, has been elected the 1991 Chairman of the Cuyahoga County Board of Mental Retardation and Developmental Disabilities.

Congratulations to Harold W. Henderson on becoming a partner with the law firm of Thompson, Hine and Flory.

Barbara Nahra, Counsel for TRW, Inc. and a member of the CBA’s Commission on Women in the Law, published “Alternative Work Options Resources” in the February Cleveland Bar Journal.

Congratulations to Judge Patrick Carroll and wife, Bonnie on the birth of their first child, Michael Patrick. Judge Carroll is the Municipal Court Judge for the city of Lakewood.

Linda Rich certainly knows how to cure the Cleveland “winter blues”. She and husband, Walter Tiburski recently spent a week on the sunny island of St. Maarten. Nice tan, Linda!

Congratulations to Kathleen Sutula on her appointment by Governor George V. Voinovich to judge of the Common Pleas Court.

Grant Relic starred as an ace pitcher in the Cleveland Indians’ “Fantasy Camp” in Tucson, Arizona. We are anxiously awaiting word as to whether the Tribe will select him in their next draft.

Eric S. Brown chaired an Elder Care Seminar sponsored by the CCB in cooperation with the Nursing Home Ombudsman Program.

Gerald R. Walton and his wife, Liz are the proud parents of a future skating star. Their daughter, Elizabeth, age 11, was the first-place winner in her division in the Greater Cleveland “Catch A Rising Star” competition at the Garfield Heights Skating Arena in January.

Gregory F. Clifford, CMLAA Board of Trustees member and its Minority Concerns Committee Co-Chair, and Steven J. Kwizdziel have been re-elected to the Board of Trustees of the Catholic Charities Corp.

Congratulations to Sandra J. Brantley on her promotion to Vice President, Law Department of National City Bank. Ms. Brantley is a resident of Bay Village.

Thomas J. Laubenthal, CPA and partner in the firm of Ernst & Young, was one of three Clevelanders interviewed for the January Ohio Law article on the constantly changing IRS regulations on pension plans.
Robert G. Walton and Phillip J. Korey have worked together on a number of cases over the years, primarily in the area of criminal defense. Their collaboration has resulted in acquittals in their last four felony trials. Mr. Walton lives in University Heights with his wife, Anne and their three children. Mr. Korey is a resident of Rocky River and remains one of Cleveland's most eligible bachelors.

Congratulations to Lynn Arko Kelley, Director of the Ohio Estate Tax Department and her husband, Michael V. Kelley '81, who recently welcomed their second child, Brenden Patrick Kelley. Brenden joins big brother Christopher Fitzpatrick Kelley.

Congratulations to Paul A. Monahan, Jr. and his wife, Kathleen on the birth of their second child, Bridget, who joins big sister, Caitlin. Mr. Monahan is an associate with Duvin Cahn & Barnard.

George Hicks was appointed to the Executive Council of the CBA’s Young Lawyers Section. Mr. Hicks is employed with the Cleveland Electric Illuminating Company.

Pamela Daiker, Associate Director of the Street Law Program at C-M, was appointed to the Executive Council of the CBA’s Young Lawyers Section.

Jane S. Flaherty, a member of the CMLAA Board of Trustees and Co-Chair of the Publications and CLE Committees, was co-editor of the Alternate Work Schedules articles in the February, 1991 Cleveland Bar Journal and co-authored the introductory article. Ms. Flaherty was also appointed to the Executive Council of the CBA’s Young Lawyers Section and is Co-Chair of the Senior Citizens Fair, as well as a member of the Commission on Women in the Law.

Tony Guzik, Assistant Counsel with the Cleveland Bar Association, attended the ABA mid-year meeting in Seattle, Washington.

John Patta escaped the Cleveland winter by cruising the Caribbean for a week.

Congratulations to James M. Moore on becoming a partner in the law firm of Pearne, Gordon, McCoy and Granger. Mr. Moore’s practice emphasizes electronics and digital signal processing patent law and the protection of computer software. He graduated cum laude from C-M and received a Master of Science in Electrical Engineering from Southern Methodist University.

Congratulations to Ann H. Mandel on her engagement to Scott D. Garson. Ms. Mandel is a personal injury attorney with Dennis Seaman and Associates, located in the Rockefeller Building in the historic Warehouse District. Mr. Garson is the Manager of the Prospect Avenue Redevelopment for Mid-Town Corridor, a non-profit development organization.

Karren Brower is an associate with the Law Office of Bruce R. Kelsey in West Chicago, Illinois.

Cheers to Nora Lagzdins Hurley, who was featured in “Today’s Profile” of The Plain Dealer for saving the life of a choking woman by implementing the Heimlich maneuver. She was recognized for having the courage to get involved. Ms. Hurley is a law clerk for Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Judges Thomas J. Pokorny ’80 and Paul R. Matia. She and her husband, Keith live in North Royalton.

Victor Anselmo has become a Referee with the Cuyahoga County Domestic Relations Court.

Sean Gallagher, former Bailiff to Judge Donald C. Nugent ’74, has joined the Cuyahoga County Prosecutor’s Office in the Criminal Division.

Brian G. Ruschel has opened his own law and accounting office in the Statler Office Tower.

John J. Luecken, Jr. has joined the Akron-based law firm of Bourse & McDowell as an associate attorney. Mr. Luecken is a former editor-in-chief of the Law Review and resides in Lakewood with his wife, Carla.

David Cuppage, Cornelius O’Sullivan and John Simon are new Law Clerks to the Eighth District Court of Appeals. They clerk for Judges Francis E. Sweeney ’63, Judge John F. Corrigan and Judge John T. Patton ’58, respectively.

AND LOOKING TO THE FUTURE . . .

C-M student Brendan Sheehan has become Bailiff to Judge Donald C. Nugent ’74.
First the Faculty . . .

Faculty members continue to distinguish themselves as experts in their fields — in research, in pro bono advocacy, and in service to professional organizations. The Director of the Law & Public Policy Program Alan Weinstein, for instance, has been selected from among the nation’s leading practitioners, scholars and public officials in the fields of zoning and planning, to serve as a Reporter for Land Use Law & Zoning Digest, a publication of the American Planning Association (APA). In late March, Professor Weinstein will travel to New Orleans for the National Conference of the APA. As Chair of the APA’s Planning & Law Division, Professor Weinstein is responsible for organizing conference sessions on “Urban Design Review Ordinances,” “The New Federal Legislation on Subsidized Housing,” and “A Debate on Land-Use Initiatives and Referenda.” He will also conduct the Division’s annual business meeting.

George L. Haskins, Baker & Hostetler Professor of Law and Algernon Sydney Biddle Professor Emeritus of Law at the University of Pennsylvania, delivered an address at the University of Madrid in August that will be published this year in the Netherlands, under the auspices of the Association Internationale Pour l’Histoire des Institutions. The paper is entitled “Wilderness Child of Cambridge University” and deals with the Puritan background of the founding of Harvard College in the 1630’s. A shorter version will be published elsewhere under the title of “L’Enfant des Forêts.”

In March, Associate Dean John Makdisi addressed the American Oriental Society on “The Dichotomy Between Law and Religion in Islamic Law” in Berkeley, California. This is the second year Dean Makdisi has appeared before the group. Dean Makdisi’s new book, Estates and Future Interests: Examples and Explanations, will be published by Little Brown and Company this spring.

Around the time Dean Makdisi was lecturing on the west coast, tax professor Louis Geneva was speaking on the east coast before the East Coast Estate Planning Council in West Palm Beach, Florida. In May, Professor Geneva will again serve as Director of the Annual Internal Revenue Serving Cleveland District Director’s Conference on Federal Wealth Transfer Taxation. Professor Geneva urges alumni and friends to watch for details and keep the conference in mind. Last year’s conference, heavily attended by regional estate planners, generated almost $15,000 to fund Cleveland-Marshall scholarships. The conference involves Internal Revenue Service personnel from both the district and national offices who will be responding to questions from leading estate planning practitioners.

Three other faculty members who are also making important contributions to legal studies and professional organizations are: Jane Picker, Lizabeth Moody and Steven Steinglass. Director of the Fair Employment Practices Clinic Jane Picker has been active this year in the Association of American Law Schools as a member of the Planning Committee to develop a workshop on Labor and Employment Law. Professor Picker was also recently elected to the Executive Committee of the Cleveland branch of the NAACP.

In March, Professor Lizabeth A. Moody, newly appointed President of Law School Admission Services and Executive Director of the Law School Admission Council, will travel to Chicago as 1991 Guest Lecturer for the Baker-McKenzie Foundation and Loyola University School of Law. Professor Moody’s topic will be “What Do Lawyers Owe To the Public? Is Mandatory Pro Bono an Idea Whose Time Has Come?” This is a topic which Professor Moody’s work on behalf of women and her many contributions to non-profit organizations make her uniquely qualified to address.

Following the publication of his Section 1983 Litigation in State Courts (Clark Boardman Co., Ltd.), now in its fifth release, Steven H. Steinglass has become a widely sought speaker, lecturing throughout the country on Section 1983 litigation at a number of continuing legal and judicial education programs. In June, 1990, Professor Steinglass spoke before the Minnesota Judges Conference, and in October, 1990, he addressed the Practising Law Institute and the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, Inc. He is also scheduled to lecture at the Ohio Common Pleas Judges’ Association Summer Conference in June, 1991, and at the National Judicial College in July, 1991.

And Now the Staff . . .

Louise P. Dempsey, Assistant Dean for External Affairs, has just returned from two weeks of trekking, rafting and elephant riding through the jungles of Thailand. Dean Dempsey also accompanied Louise Mooney to Tennessee and Mississippi, where she suffered from even greater culture shock than she had experienced in Thailand.

While Dean Dempsey was sleeping in huts on bamboo mats under mosquito nets — in Thailand, not Tennessee — Carol Barresi, Dean Smith’s Secretary and Administrative Coordinator, was sunning herself lazily on the beaches of Cancun.

Other staff trips were less exotic. Pamela Daiker, Associate Director of the College’s Street Law Program, who was recently elected to the Executive Council of the Young Lawyers Section of the Cleveland Bar Association, attended the ABA’s Law Related Education Conference in Newport Beach, California, in January. And Louise Mooney traveled by car from Berea to Middleburg Heights to lead a book discussion on Eudora Welty’s The Golden Apples at the public library.
IGNATIUS-LOYOLA ALUMNI ASSOCIATION.

He was honored by this organization when he received the Garvey Award for his outstanding service to the alumni association.

With this background, it was no surprise to anyone that he would not only excel in law school, graduating magna cum laude, but also be very involved in Cleveland-Marshall activities. During his years at C-M, Terry was elected President of the SBA, was the student representative to the Alumni Board of Trustees, a member of the Dean's Search Committee, a member of Law Review staff and co-editor of the orientation manual while a Student Senator in his first year. He also joined the Delta Theta Phi Legal Fraternity, held a position as law clerk at a local firm, and, of course, participated in intramural sports.

His first position after graduation was law clerk to the Honorable John T. Patton '58, of the Eighth District Court of Appeals. Terry's commitment to St. Ignatius High School, however, almost prevented him from launching his legal career. It has been said that Judge Patton, who attended Holy Name High School (a long-time rival of St. Ignatius), told Terry that he was hired in spite of the fact that he was an Ignatius graduate. Judge Patton, with his tongue planted firmly in his cheek, was willing to overlook this "shortcoming" because Terry's parents had attended Holy Name. After his clerkship, Terry joined the firm of William J. Coyne & Associates, Co., L.P.A. Now a principal with the firm, his practice consists of civil litigation, primarily defense work. He is also counsel to the Fairview Park Senior Apartment Corporation, a non-profit corporation.

CLEVELAND-MARSHALL TO CO-SPONSOR PART-TIME LEGAL EDUCATION CONFERENCE

The Cleveland-Marshall College of Law is proud to announce its selection as co-sponsor, with the ABA, the Council on Legal Education and Admission to the Bar's Conference on Part-Time Legal Education. The conference will be held at the Law School October 14-16, 1992.

OBITUARIES

The Cleveland-Marshall Law Alumni Association expresses its condolences to the families and friends of the following alumni who have passed away:

Harvey S. Yasinow '71

currently resides in Bay Village, Ohio. Her education is vast, as she has mastered two areas of professional expertise, nursing and law, and blended them into outstanding qualifications for a third: service on the bench of the Court of Appeals of Ohio - Eighth Appellate District.

A registered nurse since 1957, Judge Dyke worked as a surgical nurse at St. Vincent Charity Hospital. While attending night classes at John Carroll University, she was offered a Nursing Fellowship in St. Louis, which she accepted and completed her Bachelor's Degree while at St. Louis University. In 1964, Judge Dyke returned to Cleveland, worked full-time in a doctor's office, and applied to night school at Cleveland-Marshall College of Law. At that time, the College had not yet admitted a registered nurse, but accepted her because she had also earned a bachelor's degree.

Judge Dyke's first year class consisted of six women and three hundred fifty men. She worked during the day, attended classes at night, served as Editor of Law Review and Secretary of her Senior Class. She graduated in 1968. Upon admission to the Ohio Bar, Judge Dyke became one of eight nurse-attorneys in the United States. She opened her own office and because of her nursing background, was soon appointed Attorney Examiner for the Bureau of Worker's Compensation. In 1974, she joined fellow alumnae, Donna Catliota '74 and Dorothy Gamiere '74 in opening the first female law firm in the state of Ohio. From 1975 to 1980, she also served as Special Counsel to the Ohio Attorney General's Office.

In 1980, Judge Dyke was elected to the bench of the Cuyahoga County Court of Common Pleas. At that time, she and the Honorable Ann McMammon '50 were the sole women judges on the 31-member court and was the first nurse-judge in the United States. In 1986, she ran for and was elected to the bench of the Eighth District Court of Appeals.

During law school, Judge Dyke met and married her husband, Theodore J. Dyke. They had three children together, Lorianne E., Karla and John Theodore. In July of 1986, Ted became seriously ill with a brain tumor and Judge Dyke cared for him at home until his death in November, 1986. Attorney, labor arbitrator and C-M Professor, Ted Dyke, a favorite of C-M students, is fondly remembered by many alumni. Two of her children are attending college; Lorianne is a senior at John Carroll University and John is a freshman at Northwestern University. In 1989, while a freshman at John Carroll, Judge Dyke's daughter, Karla, died in a tragic horseback riding accident.

Committed to community service, Judge Dyke is a member of numerous organizations and sits on the Board of several others. These organizations include The Newman Foundation Corporation, Catholic Cemeteries Association of the Diocese of Cleveland, North Coast Health Ministry, Lake Erie Science and Nature Center, the Virginia Marti College of Fashion and Art, the Cleveland Catholic Diocese School Board, the Special Wish Foundation, Adult and Children Learning Disabilities and the Callistian Guild. Through her life, Judge Dyke's kindness has touched a great many people. Her former Bailiff from Common Pleas Court, James E. Valenta, now Bailiff to Hon. Maureen Gravens '78 of Rocky River Municipal Court, expresses his thoughts, which are shared by many: "One of my fondest memories of Judge Dyke is her ability to be a people-oriented individual. She never let her position alter her judgment, and her down-to-earth nature was always appreciated by the lawyers practicing in her courtroom. On many occasions, she was there to guide young attorneys still 'wet behind the ears', by her patience and experience in the litigation process. In 1984, her husband, Ted, presented her with a most cherished gift that reflects what Judge Dyke practices in life: a Norman Rockwell painting depicting the Sea of Humanity from divergent race and creed with the quote, 'Do unto others as you would have them do unto you.' That print still hangs in the Judge's courtroom chambers as words to live by. Judge Ann Dyke is highly respected by her peers and it was an honor to work for her."
