HISTORY

In 1916 a number of prominent attorneys of Cleveland, desirous of raising the general standard of legal attainment, and feeling the need in the community of a school of law that should be rigidly thorough and at the same time entirely practical in its teaching, formed an association to realize their ideals.

The founders' plans were of an unusually broad and liberal character and anticipated in surprising degree the wide and distinctive service now rendered by the institution which they founded and which carries the name of the nation's greatest juristic genius, John Marshall. The new institution opened its doors on September 20, 1916, and so immediate was the response it received and so eminently successful were the results of its first year's instruction, that at the close of the year in May, 1917, it became affiliated with Ohio Northern University.

After six years of the most cordial relations with the university, it was deemed advisable to secure a charter from the state of Ohio, authorizing The John Marshall School of Law to confer degrees in its own name. Such a charter was secured in January, 1924. This charter puts The John Marshall School of Law on a par with the best law schools in the state and insures freedom to respond to the advance in ideas of legal education.

PURPOSE

The John Marshall School of Law is distinctly a lawyer's school. Its faculty is composed of successful attorneys in active practice, who are also experienced in teaching. Every effort is made to admit as candidates for a degree only such students as give promise by their education, attainments and character of becoming honorable and worthy practitioners of the law.

The most noteworthy feature in the progress of legal education in the United States has been the development of efficient law schools. "Reading law" in a lawyer's office is of unquestionable value because of the familiarity it gives with the routine work and everyday practice of the profession, but in training a lawyer, it can never take the place of the thorough, systematic instruction given by a good law school. The course of study covered by The John Marshall School of Law embraces the entire field of law and is designed to develop the student, and to fit him for the active duties of a practicing lawyer.

The instruction is founded upon the conviction that the law is a science and is designed to teach the principles of law, their history and reason and to develop the powers of analysis, discrimination and judgment essential to the practical application of these principles.

LOCATION

The John Marshall School of Law for the first three years was located in the Guardian Building, where it occupied comfortable quarters which were ample during the school's infancy.

The rapidly increasing attendance soon called for more commodious quarters. The school is now located at 242-248 Superior Avenue, opposite the Post Office, where it occupies approximately 4,000 feet of floor space—ample room for the present and immediate future.

The location is unsurpassed. It is only a step to the Municipal Court, the Court of Common Pleas, the Court of Appeals, and the United States District Court. The student is only a few minutes from the leading law firms of the city.

LIBRARY FACILITIES

The John Marshall School of Law has an excellent law library. Here the student has access to the Ohio State Reports and Digests, Ohio Court of Appeals Reports, the United States Reports and Digests, Cyc., Corpus Juris, the Ohio Statutes, law dictionaries and a stack of supplemental text books for reference. Students may also arrange to use the Cuyahoga County Law Library in the New Court House, one of the largest and finest collections of Law literature in America.

The student also has access to the public library, where he will find a fine collection of current literature. Adequate library facilities are a prime essential to the student of Law.

OPPORTUNITY FOR LEGAL STUDY

No city in the country affords better facilities for legal study than Cleveland. Here sit the District Court of the United States; the Appellate Court of Ohio; the Common Pleas Courts; the Probate Court of Cuyahoga County; the Cleveland Municipal Courts, and the Admiralty and Insolvency Courts. Cleveland affords an opportunity to follow the progress of a case from the lowest to the highest court, with few exceptions.

REQUIREMENTS FOR ADMISSION AND CLASSIFICATION OF STUDENTS

Students may enter the School at any time, but in order to receive full credit toward graduation for work done must enter at the beginning of a semester.

Candidates for admission to the bar and for a degree will be required, upon their application for admission, to furnish satisfactory evidence of the completion of two years of college work. Such are known as Regular Students.

Students not candidates for admission to the bar and for a degree may enter upon proving to the satisfaction of the Dean that they possess such general education as will enable them to pursue the study of law intelligently. Such are known as Special Students.

Candidates for admission to the Ohio bar will be required to conform to the provisions of Rule XIV, as amended June 10, 1927, and promulgated by the Ohio Supreme Court.

GRADUATION AND DEGREES

The degree of Bachelor of Laws will be conferred upon Regular Students who complete the prescribed courses of study in a manner satisfactory to the Board of Trustees.

Credit toward graduation will be given for not more than one year's study of law under the actual tuition of a reputable practicing attorney-at-law. Such study must be proved by the certificate of such attorney-at-law, not only as to the length of time spent in study, but as to the subjects studied, the text or case books which formed the basis of study, and the quality of the work done by the student.

Credit toward graduation will be given for not more than three years' study of law in residence at any reputable law school.

No credit will be given for correspondence school work.

No student will be graduated who has not studied law for a period equivalent to eight school semesters, of which time a period equivalent to at least six school semesters must have been spent in residence at some reputable law school, and of which at least the last two semesters must have been spent in residence at The John Marshall School of Law.

"Forum" dues must be paid on registration. This fund is disbursed by the student organization known as "The Forum."

All text books are received on consignment and the school is required to make prompt remittance covering books sold. Therefore, the school can not carry book accounts.

ADMISSION TO THE BAR

Applicants for admission to the bar, upon entering the school, should register with the Clerk of the Supreme Court, as required by law. Students are advised to do this through the office of the school in order to avoid the consequences of failure to register.

Applicants for admission to the Ohio bar must have studied law for four years after the date of their registration with the Ohio Supreme Court.

The regular school year of The John Marshall School of Law is counted as one year of study under the above requirement.

METHOD OF INSTRUCTION

The system of instruction followed combines the study of the rules and principles of the law as set forth by text-writers, and the analysis and statement of leading cases with special reference to Ohio law. The instruction is designed not only to fix in the memory the great fundamental principles of law, but to stimulate mental energy and to develop power in the analysis of selected cases.

Each student is required to attend lectures six hours per week with substantial regularity.

OPTIONAL WEDNESDAY MEETINGS

To supplement the work of the class room, two hours each Wednesday evening are devoted to lectures and discussions conducted by judges, lawyers and business men. Attendance upon these meetings is purely optional. The schedule of the regular classes is arranged so as not to conflict with the Wednesday evening sessions. These meetings are designed to stimulate interest among the students in the various social sciences, to acquaint them with able men in all walks of life, and to give them a broader outlook upon human activities as well as a clearer understanding of the significance of thorough preparedness in the law.

A course of lectures on Public Law will be given under the following sub-heads:

- I. The Federal Government—Hon. Wilfred J. Mahon, LL. B.
(U. S. District Attorney)
- II. The State Government—Hon. Harold H. Burton, A.B., LL.B.
(Former City Law Director)
- III. The County Government—Hon. David R. Hertz, A.B., LL.B.
(Traction Commissioner)
- IV. The City Government—Hon. Susan M. Rebhan, LL.B.
(Assistant Law Director)

In addition, George W. Spooner will lecture on "The Psychology of Trial Work," followed by Moot Court under Hon. Carl V. Weygandt, Judge of the Court of Appeals. Hon. Samuel H. Silbert, Judge of the Court of Common Pleas, will consider the "History of Jurisprudence" in a brief course.

Other interesting men will be invited to speak on selected subjects as the year progresses.

DETAILED DESCRIPTION OF REQUIRED COURSES

FIRST YEAR

1. Contracts.

This course deals with the general principles of contract law, such as the nature, formation, interpretation, operation and discharge of contracts, and aims to furnish a foundation for the study of the special applications of contract law—as in insurance, bailments, negotiable instruments, agency, partnership, equity, jurisdiction over contracts, etc.—which are treated in separate courses.

TEXT: Clark on Contracts (3rd edition); Throckmorton's Cases on Contracts.

MR. MECK, JR. Three hours per week; 66 hours.

2. Criminal Law and Procedure.

This course aims to give a comprehensive view of the criminal law, common and statutory, special attention being paid to definitions which form an important element in criminal law and frequently furnish the key to the solution of some of its most difficult problems.

The course in criminal procedure is designed to be as full and as realistic as possible. The case is dealt with in all of its phases, from the commission of the crime to the termination of the prosecution therefor.

The preliminary subjects of arrest, examination and commitment, and the like, are treated.

Then follows the formation of the grand jury and the indictment or presentment.

The student is then taught how to arraign the prisoner, enter pleas, and conduct the trial throughout.

TEXT: Clark on Criminal Law and Criminal Procedure.

MR. WOODS or MR. CONNELL. Three hours per week; 42 hours.

3. Torts.

In this course is comprised a comprehensive study of the entire subject of wrongs to person and property. It includes, besides a consideration of specific wrongs, such as slander, libel, malicious prosecution, false imprisonment, assault and battery, fraud, trespass, nuisance, and the like, a survey of the nature of torts in general and of the principle of liability. To the subject of negligence is given the special consideration which its importance demands.

The subject of master and servant is taught as a branch of the law of torts. The topics treated are those of independent contractors; the master's liability for the torts and crimes of his servant; the master's liability for injuries to his servants; the servant's liability for his own torts; and the liability of third persons for torts to master or servant. Special consideration is given to the Federal Employers' Liability Act, and to State legislation along similar lines.

TEXT: Throckmorton's Cooley on Torts.

JUDGE MECK. Three hours per week; 54 hours.

4. Agency.

This course embraces the relations of principal and agent as formed by agreement, ratification or estoppel; the obligations of the relation; its legal effect as between principal and agent, principal and third persons, agent and third persons.

TEXT: Huffcut on Agency.

MR. MILLER. Three hours per week; 42 hours.

SECOND YEAR

1. Real Property.

Since some knowledge of the history of the law of real property is essential to an understanding of its principles, the subject is taught historically as well as philosophically and practically. A series of introductory lectures is given on the feudal land tenures, and the changes made therein are then explained and traced through the modern English tenures to the present system of land titles in the United States. Consideration is given to the different estates in land, whether corporal or incorporeal, in possession or in expectancy, in fee, for life, or for years. Special attention is paid to remainders, executory limitations, dower and curtesy, and the modes by which the various estates in land may be created or transferred.

TEXT: Tiffany's Outline of Real Property.

MR. LINDEMANN. Three hours per week; 72 hours.

2. Personal Property.

This course embraces a treatment of the nature of property, the kinds of personal property, distinction between real and personal property, and the nature and acquisition of right in personal property.

TEXT: Llewellyn's Cases on Personal Property.

MR. LINDEMANN. Three hours per week; 36 hours.

3. Negotiable Instruments.

The formal requirements of negotiability; the rights of bona fide purchasers; the contract of indorsement; the steps necessary to hold indorsers; promissory notes; drafts or bills of exchange and checks, under the Law Merchant and Negotiable Instruments Act.

TEXT: The Negotiable Instruments Code.

MR. BARKLEY. Three hours per week; 36 hours.

4. Public Utilities.

This course embraces a thorough investigation and discussion of the public utility idea, including a discussion of the nature and rights of public utilities and their obligations with respect to serving the public without discrimination and at reasonable rates, the obligation to furnish adequate facilities and to continue service.

Especial attention is given to the subject of regulation of public utilities at common law and under modern statutes and to special problems arising out of such regulation.

The law of common carriers of goods and passengers and the law of innkeepers is fully treated, including the rights of the public.

TEXT: Robinson's Cases on Public Utilities.

MR. BARKLEY. Three hours per week; 36 hours.

5. Domestic Relations.

This course embraces a thorough discussion of the law of husband and wife, parent and child, and guardian and ward, and a general discussion of the law relating to aliens and insane persons.

As part of the law of husband and wife, the subjects of marriage and divorce receive careful consideration.

The rights, duties, and liability in respect to person and property, at common law, and under modern statutes, growing out of the marriage relation, and the relation of parent and child, and of guardian and ward, are fully considered and explained.

TEXT: Cooley on Domestic Relations, and Cases.

MR. FIORETTE. Three hours per week; 36 hours.

THIRD YEAR

1. Equity.

This course is intended to ground the student thoroughly in the nature and fundamental principles of equity jurisdiction. The origin of courts of equity and the development of equity jurisdiction and its relation to the common law are carefully explained, and the general principles of modern equity jurisprudence discussed.

Much attention is paid to such important topics as trusts, mortgages, fraud, mistake, the doctrine of notice, election, conversion, etc., as well as to the various equitable remedies, such as specific performance, injunction, reformation, accounting, and the like.

TEXT: Eaton and Eaton's Cases.

JUDGE WEYGANDT. Three hours per week; 54 hours.

2. Pleading.

The student of this course is first given the history and purpose of pleading, followed by the philosophy. He is then briefly made acquainted with the procedure under the Civil Law, Common Law and Equity systems with emphasis, however, upon Common Law pleading. The fundamental principles of this great system are thoroughly studied as well as the different kinds of actions under the Common Law, and particular attention is called to all such matters and things as are now employed in the modern procedure under the Code. After completing the history, philosophy, and different early methods of procedure, Code pleading is taken up and thoroughly studied from a general as well as a particular view point—using Judge Phillips' text for the former and Whittaker's Annotated Code of Ohio for the latter. The petition, answer and reply as well as the motion and demurrer are thoroughly studied in detail and the student given special instruction how to prepare the necessary papers in bringing a case judicially to the Court's attention. In so far as time will permit, error and appeal are given consideration. Pleadings are also drawn by the student so that he may be familiar and at ease in presenting a case when admitted.

TEXT: Phillips on Code Pleading.

JUDGE RUHL. Three hours per week; 54 hours.

3. Evidence.

This course includes the topics usually coming under this head, such as the definition, nature and different kinds of evidence, judicial notice, burden of proof, the rules as to competency, and effect of evidence, the hearsay and parol evidence rules, the law of witnesses, documentary evidence, etc. In addition to imparting a theoretical knowledge of the principles involved, every effort is made to give the student a practical working knowledge of the subject, so as to enable him to conduct a case through the ordinary course of judicial investigation.

TEXT: Hughes on Evidence, and Hughes' Cases.

MR. MILLER. Three hours per week; 54 hours.

4. Wills and Administration of Estates.

The law of descent and distribution; testamentary capacity; execution, revocation, and revival of wills; construction of wills; ademption and lapse of legacies; executors and administrators; payment of legacies; distribution of estates.

TEXT: Gardner on Wills.

MR. MILLER. Three hours per week; 54 hours.

FOURTH YEAR

1. Law of Associations (Partnership and Private Corporations.)

In this course a study is made of the law relating to various forms of business associations. Some time is devoted to a brief treatment of the leading principles of the law of partnership both at common law and under the Uniform Partnership Acts; limited partnerships, the joint stock company, and the use of the business trust.

The remainder of the course is devoted to a study of the law of private corporations—their promotion, de facto corporations, ultra vires acts, liability for torts and crimes, the rights and liabilities of officers, stockholders, and creditors, and the reorganization of corporations.

TEXT: Clark on Corporations; Gilmore's Cases on Partnership; Wormser's Cases on Corporations.

MR. HOSFORD. Three hours per week; 54 hours.

2. Suretyship.

Attention is paid to the distinction between suretyship and guaranty; to the requisites and construction of the contract of the principal and surety, to the rights, obligations, and defences of the surety, at law and in equity, in relation to the creditor, principal debtor, and co-sureties, whether the surety's obligation be collateral or original; and to the comparatively new subject of compensated suretyship.

TEXT: De Witt's Stearns on Suretyship.

MR. CONNELL. Three hours per week; 24 hours.

3. Constitutional Law.

The course in Constitutional Law embraces a study of the Federal Constitution, as interpreted by the courts, including a discussion of the subject of interstate commerce, ex post facto laws, impairing the obligations of contracts, due process of law, eminent domain, the police power, etc.

TEXT: Evan's Cases on Constitutional Law.

MR. FULLMER. Three hours per week; 42 hours.

4. Legal Bibliography (Law Books—Their Meaning and Uses).

This course aims to develop in the student a knowledge of the repositories of the law, ability to use the law library efficiently, and power to judge of the weight of various authorities. It concludes with practical instruction in the formulation of legal argument and the preparation of briefs.

MR. HERTZ. 6 hours.

5. Senior Review Course.

On the completion of the advanced work in the Senior year, as a preparation for the bar examination, a review of all the branches of the law required by the Ohio Supreme Court for admission to the bar is undertaken by a member of our regular faculty who is a master in this field.

This is not a quiz course, but a comprehensive review requiring the examination of hundreds of recent decisions. This course is also offered in the first semester in preparation for the January examination.

MR. MECK JR. 90 hours.

All courses are subject to re-assignment at any time.

POST-GRADUATE COURSE OF STUDY

A law school course should not be confined to the study of the principles of substantive law. So far as possible a student should learn how to apply these principles to the more common problems encountered in active practice.

Although it is true that the details of practice can be mastered only after years of experience, yet it is the function of a well organized law school to lessen the gap existing between the law graduate and the successful practitioner.

To this end and in response to the demand from her alumni for an opportunity for further study, The John Marshall School of Law submits a post-graduate course leading to the LL.M. degree. This course covers one year of intensive study under specialists in their respective fields.

The post-graduate course of study consists of five major subjects and ten minor subjects.

SCHOOL ACTIVITIES

The students of The John Marshall School of Law, in order to foster cooperative interest and good fellowship among themselves, and to stimulate a harmonious relationship between the student body and the faculty, organized and incorporated The John Marshall Forum in 1925.

This organization supervises the school activities and has sponsored debates, moot court, as well as various social affairs.

Every student, upon registration, automatically becomes a member of the Forum. The annual dues of $2.50, required of each student, are used to defray Forum expenses, including the purchasing of prizes awarded each year to the student of each class who attains the highest average.

The students are urged to take an active part in the Forum activities and to express freely their views on the various matters pertaining to the school and school life.

Forum activities are conducted under the guidance of five Trustees, four of whom are elected from the student body, and one from the faculty.

LAMBDA DELTA BETA FRATERNITY

The Lambda Delta Beta Fraternity was incorporated under the laws of the State of Ohio, on March 7th, 1921, with the following incorporators as charter members:—Albert L. Glaser; Sylvester Marx; Milton Golden; Robert H. Kaplan; Ezra Shapiro; Benjamin Kasner; and Alvin M. Shulman.

Since its incorporation, the membership of the Cleveland Chapter has increased from seven to fifty-two; and besides the Cleveland Chapter, there are now Chapters in several other cities.

The Fraternity, from its inception, has been engaged in promoting the welfare of the student body by affording good fellowship among its members, and fostering closer contacts with the faculty.

Its attention to scholarship has stimulated in the student a keener interest in his work, encouraged him in the study of law and jurisprudence, and has helped him obtain a clearer understanding of legal philosophy and the great ethical precepts underlying the law.

Scholarship keys are awarded each year to the one graduating with the highest average.

This photograph shows some of the members of the Alpha Chapter, whose present officers are:

Chancellor	PHILIP SCHWIMMER
Vice Chancellor	EDWARD GILDEN
Scrivener	HARRY ZISKIND
Bursar	JOEL KRUPMAN
Bailiff	LOUIS BLUSINSKY
