DR. SAM’S HOUSE GUEST RETURNS

IN CLEVELAND TODAY the important witness, seeking new information on the relationship between Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard and his dead wife, Marilyn.

Top investigators in the Sheppard murder case huddled early today with an important witness, seeking new information on the relationship between Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard and his dead wife, Marilyn.

The Plain Dealer was informed that Dr. Lester T. Hoversten, who was a guest in the Sheppard home in Bay Village before the July 4 clubbing murder, flew in from California and was "ready to talk."

Dr. Hoversten, also an osteopath and a close companion of Dr. Sam, was reportedly aroused because the Sheppard family and defense lawyers had tried to bring his name into the investigation.

Dr. Hoversten, who also knew the Sheppards when they lived in California, was at the Sheppard home up until July 3, the day before the killing.

He went from there to Kent, O., that day, investigation showed, and detectives said early in the case they were convinced his alibi held water.

County Coroner Samuel R. Gerber and Homicide Chief David E. Kerr were closeted early today at Hotel Carter, presumably questioning a witness in the case, the Plain Dealer learned.
“Not at Home”

Efforts to reach by telephone those two and Police Chief Frank W. Story and County Prosecutor Frank T. Cullitan failed, but they were definitely placed “not at home.”

The Plain Dealer’s informant said Dr. Hoversten would be rechecked about Dr. Sam’s and Marilyn’s relationships.

Although he had been checked out in the probe, police felt he had not told all he knew of the couple and their relationship earlier under some sort of gentlemen’s agreement.

There had been published reports that Dr. Hoversten had left this country for a year’s study in Germany, but it was recently established he had been in California, where he had gone from Kent, until he came here today.

Still Another Girl

Still another girl, “Sandy,” and the information that his murdered wife “took second place to his work” came to light out of the past of Dr. Sam yesterday, California police disclosed.

Police here and in Los Angeles began the hunt for this 1949 girl companion of the young osteopath now in County Jail, charged with clubbing his wife to death in her bed.

“Sandy’s” name came out of a guest book which Dr. Sam himself had given to Dr. and Mrs. George L. Hampton. “his Marilyn confirmed that Sam was living in Los Angeles with a "girl," in a 1951 conversation, Mrs. Hampton said, according to the International News Service.

In his cell Dr. Sheppard was studied by the accused husband, Sam, his brother, Dr. Stephen A. Sheppard, and the pregnant woman, from scientific investigation which we are going to closely guard so we don't spoil the case.

Marilyn said she had no plan to try questioning Dr. Sheppard, County Prosecutor Culliton was studying a fat sheaf of all investigations so far into the July 4 killing of July 4.

Homicide detectives had made a fat folder of all investigations involved in the case, indexed to show how they figure in the complex history of Marilyn's guest at the Bay death home, this morning, told Lieut.
