

Global Arts and Culture Workshop

The Scribe's Hand: Calligraphy Around the World

September 19, 2018

Presented by:
Rachel Morris

Have you wondered how beautiful letterforms were created in bygone eras? What materials and tools scribes used?

Join calligrapher and book artist Rachel Morris as we explore tools used by scribes around the world to create beautiful lettering throughout the ages. We will learn about tools used by ancient world scribes and contemporary lettering artists. We will create our own writing instruments and try our hand at writing contemporary letterforms

Rachel Morris is professor emerita of the Art Department at Notre Dame College, where she taught both art history and studio art courses, and served as Art Gallery Director. She is an accomplished calligrapher and book artist, who exhibits regularly with Art Books Cleveland, a group of artists, calligraphers, printmakers, and book binders. Her handmade books and calligraphy are included in a number of public and private collections in the region.
