History

Howard A. Mims, Ph.D., founder and founding managing director of the Jazz Heritage Orchestra

The Jazz Heritage Orchestra was founded by the late Dr. Howard A. Mims, for director of the Black Studies Program. Dr. Mims established the Jazz Heritage Orchestra in residence in the Black Studies Program at Cleveland State University and served as its first Managing Director, overseeing their first recording project “Steppin’ Out.”

On June 11, 2998, Dr. Mims, as director of Cleveland State University’s Black Studies Program, convened a meeting of professional jazz musicians and jazz enthusiasts, including the late Neal Creque, Dennis Bradley Reynolds, Marcus Belgrave, Dr. Larry Simpson and others, to discuss the viability of Cleveland State University’s Black Studies Program sponsoring a professional jazz orchestra within its organizational structure. In a subsequent meeting, this exploratory group expanded and evolved into an advisory board. The name, Jazz Heritage Orchestra (JHO), was decided on for this proposed professional jazz orchestra. It was agreed that a major mission of the JHO would be to preserve and perpetuate the musical heritage of the great African American jazz masters who were the primary creators and innovators of the art form of jazz. A special mission of the JHO would be to target and educate school age African Americans as well as the general public about this music. Later, in the spring of 1998, and using as the model the Cleveland Chamber Symphony, a professional orchestra devoted to performing new music, established in residence in the Music Department of Cleveland State University, Dr. Mims established the JHO in residence in the Black Studies Program of Cleveland State University (CSU). With this commitment on his part as a Black Studies Director, the JHO became one of five instruments of the mission of the Black Studies Program at CSU: (1) Academic, (2) African American Cultural Center, (3) Lecture, Arts and Media Series, (4) “Images”, a 30-minute radio show, and (5) the Jazz Heritage Orchestra. Dr. Mims proceeded to write the mission statement of the JHO. As founder JHO and director of the Black Studies Program, he assumed the responsibilities of Managing Director of the JHO and assigned the Black Studies Coordinator of Administrative Services as Assistant Managing Director of the JHO. Dr. Mims invited Dennis Bradley Reynolds to serve as Artistic Director of the JHO, a position which he accepted. Thus, was established the structure for the operation and support of the JHO in the Black Studies Program of CSU. The JHO is unique in being the only professional jazz orchestra in residence in a university Black Studies Program or Department. Its potential for cultural outreach and impact is tremendous within the greater Cleveland community and beyond.

Since its inception, the JHO has performed a series of concerts at CSU, Tri-C Martin Luther King Celebration, the United Black Fund Annual Celebration, Severance Hall’s “Day of Music”, Playhouse Square’s “PALOOZA”, and the Tri-C Jazz Fest of 1999. An educational encounter has been funded by United Black Fund for the East Cleveland Public Schools as well as a second workshop/concert funded by the East Cleveland Board of Education. The JHO has performed with such jazz greats as Benny Golston, Clark Terry, Vanessa Rubin and Nancy Wilson.

• Closing Remarks
I would like to personally thank you for attending the 4th Annual “Treasures of Jazz” Concert Series, featuring Ki Allen and Evelyn Wright with the Black Studies Program Jazz Heritage Orchestra (JHO). We are excited that Ms. Allen and Ms. Wright decided to accept our invitation to perform with JHO. It is an honor to have two women of their stature to grace the Main Class Room Auditorium stage. It is an equal honor that they view the Cleveland State University Black Studies Program Jazz Heritage Orchestra of the caliber worthy to perform with.

I wish to thank members of the Jazz Heritage Orchestra. Your dedication and loyalty has been a major driving force in keeping the late Dr. Howard A. Mims’ dream alive. He wanted an orchestra that would work to preserve the heritage of jazz. Members of JHO has worked hard to achieve that goal.

I want to thank the CSU Provost Office for their assistance in sponsoring this event. The College’s generous support played a major role in presenting this outstanding program.

I want to thank all the volunteers who lent their time and talent. Your support did not go unnoticed. Without you this event would have been much more difficult to manage. Thank you to Altogether Marketing for the flyer and program design and CSU Duplicating Department for the professional flyers and program booklets.

Finally, I wish to thank each individual who came to the event. I very much appreciate your support. I hope you enjoyed the concert as much as we did in presenting Evelyn Wright and Ki Allen and our own CSU Jazz Heritage Orchestra. We invite you to become a patron of the “Treasures of Jazz Series” and Jazz Heritage Orchestra. Your assistance is needed.

I look forward to seeing you next year!
