The information in this Darius Milhaud Centennial Celebration Performance Calendar is new and therefore different from the performances listed in the first Centennial issue. Included here are performances for which information was received after press time for that first issue (May 1992). If this new information was included in the 1992 or 1993 Newsletters, page references are given rather than repeating the information. A few listings here include information that was incomplete or previously unavailable in previous listings or where changes later occurred. DMCCPC refers to the first issue of the Darius Milhaud Centennial Celebration Performance Calendar.

The Darius Milhaud Society extends warmest thanks to Madame Madeleine Milhaud for her many contributions of information for the listings in both issues of the Darius Milhaud Centennial Celebration Performance Calendar. The Society is also grateful to the many others who have shared information about performances. Among them are the following:

La Cheminée du Roi René: Pro Arte Wind Quintet
WASHINGTON, D. C., RADIO WETA 91 FM

APRIL 24

D. C., Washington, WETA FM 91 radio. The Darius Milhaud Society is very grateful to Margaret W. Nelson for the following information:

Music from Washington Presents the Library of Congress featured Milhaud as the "most performed composer at the Library of Congress". Organized by the Library from its recording archives, the evening included: excerpts from music to the film Madame Bovary; La Cheminée du Roi René for woodwind quintet, derived from the film Cavalcade d’amour; music for three ballets: Le Train Bleu, Salade, and Jeux de printemps. [Ed. note: Louis Horst was conductor for the premiere in October 1944 of Jeux de Printemps, commissioned by the Library of Congress for the 80th birth celebration of Mrs. Elizabeth Sprague Coolidge. Other works commissioned for the same program were Copland’s Appalachian Spring and Hindemith’s Herodiade. All three works were choreographed by Martha Graham and performed by her and her company.] The radio program continued with piano music: La Muse Ménagère, performed by Milhaud himself and Saudades do Brasil, performed by William Bolcom. The songs of La Libération des Antilles were heard, and Milhaud spoke in a taped interview with Heitor Villa Lobos. Also broadcast were two-piano works: Le Bal Martiniquais, performed by Vitya Vronsky and Victor Babin, and Scaramouche, performed by Gold and Fizdale.

RADIO FRANCE

The Darius Milhaud Society thanks Christian Wasselin of the editorial staff of Mélomane, for sending the September and October 1992 issues of this periodical, published by Radio France, which enabled the inclusion of the following listings of recorded broadcasts from September 7 through 11 in celebration of Milhaud’s centennial birthday. Radio France paid homage to Milhaud’s centennial on the programs “France Musique” and “Les mots et les notes”. The latter featured commentary by Jean Roy and guest Jeremy Drake. Mr. Roy’s recent book, Le Groupe des Six (Seuil, 1994) devotes sections to each composer (Darius Milhaud, Francis Poulenc, Arthur Honegger, Germaine Tailleferre, Georges Auric, Louis Durey), their colleagues and collaborators, and lists significant works.
